ALL MACHINES MUST HAVE '32 TEST STICKERS

Inspection Of Automobiles Ends Tonight; Wage Campaign Friday.

FEW HOURS LEFT FOR INSPECTION

A last minute reminder to Pennsylvania motor vehicle owners that they must have their vehicles inspected and approved by midnight tonight if they wish to operate them after that time, was issued today by local highway patrolmen.

The three months arrest period that is part of the compulsory inspection period now nearing its end begins tomorrow. The duty of enforcing the law has been placed with the Pennsylvania state highway patrol. Local police authorities throughout the state are cooperating in this enforcement. Operators unable to show an inspected and approved sticker issued by an official inspection station run the danger of being fined $10 or, in default, imprisonment for five days.

Few Hours Remain
"Have your car inspected today" is the advice given those owners who have acquired the "put-it-off-until-tomorrow" habit. "Play the game and join the big parade of thousands of other Pennsylvania motorists who have cooperated with the commonwealth and are now showing themselves good citizens by displaying an orange sticker on their cars."

"Inspection now means the end of your worries so far as your car and the commonwealth is concerned. An orange sticker on your car means that you are helping to the best of your ability to lower Pennsylvania's motor vehicle accident and death toll. On and after April 1, for a period of three months, neither the commonwealth nor the owner of an uninspected car has any discretion in the matter. The law makes it mandatory on us to arrest such owners. This law will be enforced," said Sergeant Boate, of the local sub-station of highway patrolmen.

An important ruling, of interest to motor vehicle owners whose cars have been stored during the winter is announced by the department in connection with the close of the inspection period. Vehicles that have been stored during the winter and which may be placed in service and licensed after March 31, must be taken to the inspection station nearest the place of storage for inspection. Repairs, if any are needed, must be made. Operation without inspection will result in the arrest of the owner.

May Lose Registration
Under certain conditions, owners of uninspected vehicles may lose their registration privilege. State highway patrolmen always have the authority to stop and inspect motor vehicles. Where uninspected vehicles are found by the examining patrolman to be unsafe for operation, the patrolman has the authority to recommend withdrawal of registration.

Residents of Pennsylvania who have been absent from the state with their vehicles during the inspection period are not relieved from the duty of having their cars inspected. The regulations provide that on returning to Pennsylvania such cars must be inspected at the official inspection station nearest their point of entry into Pennsylvania. This is irrespective of whether they return to Pennsylvania previous to March 31 or after. Failure to comply with the regulations subject the owner to arrest.

REMOVALS
Charles W. Gardner has moved from 104 Baltimore street to 39 York street.
The Misses Wills have moved from 328 Baltimore street to 141 Baltimore street.
Henry Hess has moved from 333 York street to Gettysburg R. 5.
Roy Martin has moved from Aspers R. 1 to the Adams county home.

CHANGE OF RESIDENCE
Mrs. R. E. Francis moved today from 10 Seminary avenue to the Storm apartments, York street.

PARENT-TEACHERS' MEETING
The Parent-Teachers' association of Glenwood school will hold a meeting at 7:45 o'clock Friday night, at Jacob's Hall. Dr. Frank Cramer, of Gettysburg college, will speak.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT.
A daughter was born at the Warner hospital this afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deatrick, Hunters-town. Both mother and child are reported doing nicely.

Church Society Presents Pageant

The committee on arrangements for the fiftieth anniversary of the women's missionary society of St. James Lutheran church has asked all members of the organization to meet in the church parlor this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

A special service will be held at the church, Sunday evening, April 10, with a woman missionary from India as the speaker, and the society will give a pageant in the chapel, Tuesday evening, April 12. Mrs. J. Allen Deardorff will be in charge of the presentation of the pageant.

BUTLER AND PARTY COMING HERE FRIDAY

Former Marine Officer Will Have Speech Read; Lost Voice In Pittsburgh.

OPEN AIR RALLY IN SQUARE 10:30

The entire state republican ticket headed by General Smedley D. Butler, candidate for the United States senate, and Ralph E. Flynn, candidate for auditor general, will arrive in Gettysburg sometime tomorrow morning for an open air rally in center square.

General Butler, however, will not speak. His address will be read by a member of his party but the former marine officer will accompany the delegation, according to last reports received from the party.

General Butler lost his voice after his Pittsburgh speaking engagements and his physician has ordered him to discontinue all speeches for at least one week.

It is not known whether Governor Gifford Pinchot will accompany the party but local politicians are of the belief that the chief executive of the state will be on the speaking program.

Welcome Delegation
An official welcome delegation will meet the party along the Lincoln highway Friday morning and escort them into Gettysburg. They will stop at the Hotel Gettysburg and the open air rally will be held in center square at 10:30 o'clock. In event of inclement weather the rally will be held in the Hotel Gettysburg annex.

The former marine officer had arranged a long schedule of addresses throughout the state, his first swing through Pennsylvania since the official announcement of his candidacy for a seat in the United States senate, and local admirers of the marine officer were anxious to hear him. It is believed that General Butler will return to Gettysburg at some later date, before April 26, to deliver an address, although definite confirmation of this statement could not be secured today.

A large delegation is included in General Butler's party and the principal candidates will speak at the rally here.

COOLIDGE PAYS AND ENDS SUIT

Former President Sends St. Louis Insurance Man $2,500.

St. Louis, March 31 (AP).—Former President Calvin Coolidge has written L. B. Tebbetts, St. Louis insurance man, explaining he meant no offense when in a radio speech last October he cautioned against insurance agents who "offer to save money for you by placing your policy in another company."

Mr. Coolidge enclosed a check for $2,500. Tebbetts said his reputation was injured by the Coolidge address in which he said the following language was used:

"Beware of the so-called 'twister' and 'abductor' or any agent who offers to save money for you by replacing your policy in another company."

The former president was served with a summons last month at the instance of Tebbetts who also instituted similar action against the New York Life Insurance company of which Coolidge was a director.

Tebbetts said the summons against Coolidge would be dismissed but that a damage suit against the insurance company would be filed.

In his letter the former president said he was informed Tebbetts felt the radio address might be construed "by your friends and acquaintances as reflecting upon you and the plan of insurance you are advocating."

Native Observes 91st Anniversary

Samuel Kinneman, the oldest resident of Spring Grove, celebrated his ninety-first birthday anniversary quietly on Tuesday at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Moul, Spring Grove.

Mr. Kinneman was born and raised in the vicinity of Abbotstown. He attended the country school in the township where he was born and continued his education at the Pfeiffer academy, New Oxford, at that time a prominent preparatory school.

He taught for 23 years in the public schools of Adams and York counties. He later moved to York, where he carried on a produce business; successfully until seven years ago. He served in the civil war for almost two years. The past seven years he has been making his home with the C. W. Moul family. He is hale and hearty and able to go about town by himself.

New books and puzzles added to our library. Sweetland.

BUSINESS SLOW AT COURT HOUSE

No April 1 Rush Is Noted In Prothonotary And Register's Office.

Although Friday is the first of April, offices at the court house seemed no busier today than on ordinary days.

In former years, the offices of the prothonotary and register and recorder were swamped with work on April 1, which was generally regarded as settlement day, but in recent years, the business in these offices is spread out over the entire year and does not come bunched at the first of April.

S. L. Allison, prothonotary, and his deputy, C. B. Yohe, were somewhat busier than usual today entering satisfactions and renewals on judgments on record there. It was stated that the number of satisfactions will probably be smaller this year than in any recent year, with most judgment holders renewing their obligations.

Another office, which in years gone by usually felt the brunt of April first business at the court house, that of the register and recorder, was no busier today than on an ordinary day. "We don't know that the first of April is at hand," Robert E. Fisher, the register and recorder said. Miss Edna Eicholtz, the deputy register and recorder, said transactions in that office are now spread out over the year, instead of being settled on April 1.

House Nears Vote On Huge Tax Bill

Washington, March 31 (AP).—The house pushed ahead today toward completion of the billion dollar revenue bill and prepared for separate votes tomorrow on levies on automobiles, war-time surtaxes and real estate taxes, coal and oil import levies and on stocks transactions.

As the ways and means committee went into executive session to consider final drafts of new amendments to be substituted for the defeated sales tax. Acting Chairman Crisp said indications were that five separate votes would be demanded when the bill comes up for final passage.

ON SICK LIST
C. A. Bixler, district manager of the United Telephone company, is ill with grippe at his residence in New Oxford.

Miss Helen Scott, supervisor at the local telephone exchange, is ill at her home on York street.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT
Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Laughman, of Gardners, Route 2, have announced the birth of a daughter, Margaret Ruth, Monday at the home.

WEATHER REPORT
Rain and colder in southeast and rain, probably changing to snow flurries, and colder in west and north portions tonight, Friday fair and colder.

Woodlot Planting Demonstration To Be Held Monday

A farm woodlot planting demonstration will be held on the farm of Mrs. Rose Murren, Mt. Pleasant township, Monday at 1:30 o'clock. Forest tree seedlings have been secured from the state nursery and L. A. Bull, forestry extension specialist, will be in charge of the demonstration. There are many acres of idle land in Adams county that could be producing valuable wood if these areas were reforested. M. T. Hartman, county agent, said.

This meeting is open to the public and anyone interested in forest tree planting should plan to attend the meeting.

INSPECT LOCAL REPAIR SECTION

Federal and State Army Officers Conduct Inspection Here Wednesday.

The annual federal and state inspection of the 105th motor repair section, 28th division train, Pennsylvania National Guard unit here, held Wednesday evening at the armory in the basement of the First National bank building, center square, was the most successful of five held during the fiscal year of 1931-32. Lieutenant Ralph Deatrick, commanding officer, said today.

Major Romeo H. Freer, of the quartermaster corps, Camp Holabird, Maryland, and Lieutenant Colonel William Zierdt, of Harrisburg, of the inspector general's staff, were the federal and state inspectors, respectively.

They were accompanied here by Major George P. Drake, Harrisburg, commander, and Captain Arthur L. Koch, Harrisburg, instructor for the 28th division train.

Both the federal and state inspectors complimented the 21 members of the local unit upon their proficiency, and Major Drake characterized the inspection as the best he has ever seen the local unit stage. Every local guardsman was present.

The inspectors put the guardsmen through various military drills, first aid, map reading, guard duty and other fundamentals of military training. They also inspected the company records and its equipment.

The local unit has five members on a waiting list.

Trainer Attacked By Circus Lion

Macon, Ga., March 31.—"King," an untamed lion used in an "untamable lion act" in Downie Brothers circus, attacked and critically injured his trainer, Robert McPherson, 45, in winter quarters of the circus Wednesday.

McPherson was taken to a hospital unconscious from a possible fractured skull, severe body lacerations and internal injuries. The lion had torn off his left ear.

The tamer was armed only with a pistol loaded with blank cartridges. He lost consciousness better attendants rescued him from the cage where the brief, one-sided battle occurred.

Downie Brothers circus has played here several seasons.

Easter Cantata Sunday Evening

The Young People's choir of the First Methodist Episcopal church, of Orbisonia, will render an Easter cantata at the local Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The choir comprises 25 young people and is vested. Homer T. Wear, postmaster at Orbisonia, is director of the musical organization. A silver offering will be received.

HOLD SURPRISE PARTY

COUNTY HOME STEWARD TAKES OFFICE FRIDAY

George Patterson Moves To Littlestown; Calvin Smith New Official.

DR. C. G. CRIST IS PHYSICIAN

George Patterson, steward at the Adams county home for eight years, will move to Littlestown, Friday, and his place will be taken by Calvin Smith, Straban township, who was defeated for the republican nomination for county commissioner last year.

Patterson was replaced by the new board of directors of the poor which took office the first of this year. The new board has a republican majority, William M. Deatrick and A. S. Mills being the republican members, and George E. Little, the democratic member.

While the new board of director appointed a new physician, attorney and clerk at the beginning of their term, it is customary for the retiring steward to remain on duty for three months. Dr. C. G. Crist is the new physician; Robert E. Wible, the new attorney, and Clarence I. Snyder, the new clerk, replacing Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Charles E. Stahl and A. P. Wagner.

Other Employees
Arthur Henning, first teamster at the county home, has been replaced by Isaac Wilt, New Oxford. Henning has accepted a position at the Hoffman orphanage. Paul Shultz will continue as second teamster.

Charles Lauer, who was in charge of the old men's building, will be succeeded on Friday by Allen McGuinn, Gettysburg. Lauer will move back to his home at Mummansburg.

John Heck, near Gettysburg, was not a candidate for re-appointment as janitor, and will be succeeded by Roy Martin, of near Heidersburg. Patterson has not decided what he will do after moving back to Littlestown. He is a farmer and cigarmaker by trade. He is a veteran of foreign wars.

ATHLETES OF BIGLER HIGH SEEK BERTHS

Baseball And Track Candidates Report To Coaches; Opening Game Next Week.

Biglerville high school's baseball and track candidates reported for their initial practice Tuesday, approximately forty aspirants turning out for berths on the teams.

Twenty-two candidates reported to Coach George Forney for positions on his baseball team. Of these, five have had experience and around them the Biglerville mentor will build his squad. Bream, Baumgardner, J. Deardorff, Burtner and Raff are the veterans. Other candidates are Delp, Hutton, Miller, Bringham, Bomberger, Smallwood, Sadler, Heiges, Koontz, Bowers, Thomas, Stallsmith, Lupp, Gindesperger, Coddington, R. Miller and Shaffer.

The Biglerville lads have hopes of coping the county league title this spring and are anxious to open the season. The first game will be played next Friday at Littlestown. New Field

The new Biglerville high athletic field will be used for the first time this season and all indications point to a strong track team being developed on the new field. Coach L. V. Stock will have eleven veterans on his squad. Those reporting for practice are Bucher, J. W. Deardorff, J. Deardorff, Baumgardner, Thomas, P. Wagner, D. Wagner, Lower, Heiges, Stallsmith, Koontz, Shaffer, Rose, Lauer, Beamer, Brough, Miller, Rouzer, Shue, Eckert, Fidler, Bomberger and R. Miller.

As yet the season's schedule has not been announced, but the first meet in which the Biglerville track stars will compete will be on April 23 at Shippensburg State Teachers' college.

COLORED COUPLE Married Here

Anna Belle Bolen and Leroy Kelly, both colored, of Harrisburg, were married by Clayton F. Palmer, clerk of the courts, Wednesday afternoon, after he issued the couple a marriage license at his office in the court house.

A marriage license also was issued Wednesday afternoon to Norman E. Auchey, Abbotstown, and Bessie E. Rinker, Oxford township.

HOSPITAL REPORT
William D. Gilbert, Jr., Chambersburg street, who has been seriously ill with quinsy for several days, was admitted as a patient to the Warner hospital.

Councilman Clarence W. Epley, Chambersburg street, was discharged as a patient.

FIND $35,000 IN SECURITIES IN MISER'S SHACK

Ridgway, March 31 (AP).—Securities worth $35,000 were found in the cold, dark shack where Alfred Carlson, 65, died after years of self-imposed privation.

Carlson's body today is in a casket that cost $1,000. For years he bought only over-ripe fruit and stale bread for food. These he crammed into a black bag he always carried and for that reason he was popularly known as "the man with the black bag."

A search of Carlson's hut brought to light Liberty bonds, building and loan stock and other investments. He had been employed as a night watchman until a few years ago. The man was not married. He is believed to have a brother and sister in Sweden.

CATTLE DEALER DIES SUDDENLY

Harry McHenry, 67, Frederick, Succumbs Shortly After Arriving Here.

Harry McHenry, 67, a cattle dealer of Frederick, died suddenly about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon of embolism, in the Edward Toddes sale and exchange stables, West Lincoln highway, a few minutes after arriving at the stables. Mr. McHenry's brother, Victor, died in Philadelphia Tuesday. The brothers will be buried Friday morning.

McHenry arrived at the Toddes stables Tuesday afternoon with a truckload of horses from Chambersburg. Upon his arrival, he complained to William Thompson that he was feeling ill and that he believed he had an attack of indigestion.

Thompson secured a rocking chair and Mr. McHenry sat in the chair to rest. Thompson turned to proceed with his work and a few minutes later returned to McHenry and found him dead.

Double Funeral
Dr. Edgar A. Miller, county coroner, was summoned, and he said that death was probably due to embolism.

Mr. McHenry was the owner of the Meadow Valley farm along the Biglerville road when the large barn on the premises was destroyed by fire last year. Shortly afterward, however, the place was sold to his brother, Charles McHenry, of Carlisle. While residing at the Meadow Valley place, Mr. McHenry bought and sold horses, and planned to develop the farm for winter quarters for race horses. The fire, however, halted his plans.

The deceased is survived by one son, Harvey, of Hagerstown, and the following brothers and sisters: Allen, of Frederick; William and Richard, of Hagerstown; Charles, of Carlisle; Grover, of Persimmon, Virginia; Bradley, of Baltimore; the Misses Blanche and Jennie, of Frederick, and Miss Addie, of Baltimore. The body was prepared for burial by H. B. Bender & Son, and this morning was removed to Frederick. A double funeral over the bodies of Harry and his brother, Victor, will be held Friday morning, with burial in Frederick.

AIR MAIL PILOT FLIES TO DEATH NEAR AIRPORT

Cleveland, March 31 (AP).—Pilot Forest Malick, carrying the night mail from New York to Cleveland, flew to his death in a fog and rainstorm before dawn today.

His body was found in an open field near Bedford, a Cleveland suburb, after a search of several hours. Malick was within a few miles of the Cleveland airport when death overtook him. Malick had switched off the ignition, evidently knowing he was going to crash. The pilot was 24 years old and single. His home was in Newark, New Jersey.

COLORED COUPLE Married Here

Anna Belle Bolen and Leroy Kelly, both colored, of Harrisburg, were married by Clayton F. Palmer, clerk of the courts, Wednesday afternoon, after he issued the couple a marriage license at his office in the court house.

A marriage license also was issued Wednesday afternoon to Norman E. Auchey, Abbotstown, and Bessie E. Rinker, Oxford township.

HOSPITAL REPORT
William D. Gilbert, Jr., Chambersburg street, who has been seriously ill with quinsy for several days, was admitted as a patient to the Warner hospital.

Councilman Clarence W. Epley, Chambersburg street, was discharged as a patient.

JOHN PETERS, OF FAIRFIELD, ATTEMPTS LIFE

75-year-old Countian Slashes His Throat Several Times, Wednesday.

FIVE STITCHES PUT IN THROAT

After slashing his throat several times, in what physicians said was a suicide attempt, John F. Peters, 75, of Fairfield, was prevented from inflicting a fatal wound, Wednesday afternoon, by Earl Myers, a neighbor, who took a razor away from the man.

Dr. Ira Henderson, Fairfield, who dressed the man's throat wounds, said Peters had been in ill health for many months, but had never intimated that he would take his own life.

Wednesday afternoon, Mary Peters, a daughter, saw her father go into a woodshed at his home, carrying a razor. Fearing that her father might injure or kill himself, she notified Myers, who went to the woodshed and found Peters with his throat slashed in several places.

Myers took the razor away from Peters, and led him into the house.

Doctor Henderson used five stitches to close the wounds in the man's neck.

Peters is a laborer.

165 CHICKS BURN IN BARLOW FIRE

Brooder House On George Geiselman Farm Destroyed By Fire.

A small chicken house on the farm of George Geiselman, near Barlow, was destroyed by fire shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. One hundred and sixty-five three weeks' old chicks were consumed.

The fire was of undetermined origin, although it is believed it started from the coal oil brooder stove with which the house was heated.

Although the chicken house, a ten by twelve foot structure, was close to the barn, no other buildings were threatened.

The Barlow fire company and neighbors extinguished the flames. The loss is estimated at $50.

LEAGUE MEETS AMONG FLOWERS

Dr. Thomas L. Cline Is Speaker At College Women's Meeting.

Art of the thirteenth century and of Florence, Italy, was the subject chosen by Dr. Thomas L. Cline for his talk before the meeting of the Gettysburg chapter of the Woman's League of Gettysburg college held Wednesday afternoon in Christ Lutheran church. Doctor Cline also gave a short resume of the work of Michelangelo during the fifteenth and sixteenth century in the city of Florence.

Tulips, forsythia and pussywillows added a springtime atmosphere to the rooms and several of the hostesses were cleverly costumed to represent spring flowers. All hostesses wore small bouquets of flowers suggestive of the season. Another appropriate note was the reading of Kipling's poem "The Flowers" by Mrs. Robert Marsh.

A miniature garden also featured the meeting and added materially to the day's collection for any plant or flowers which comprised the garden could be taken home by members or guests who were expected to leave a money gift to take its place.

Hostesses for the meeting included Mrs. J. I. Burgoon, Mrs. Elaine G. Walter, Mrs. E. Dale Heiges, Mrs. George D. Stahley, Mrs. Thomas L. Cline, Mrs. A. R. Wentz, Mrs. W. C. Wattenyer, Mrs. Herbert L. Grimm, Mrs. Anna C. Plank, Mrs. Robert Marsh and Mrs. Jesse F. Boughton.

Mrs. Robert Fortenbaugh, president of the local chapter, presided.

ACCEPTS NEW POSITION
M. C. Haverstock, former manager of the A. & P. store, Baltimore street, has accepted a position as manager of the Farmers' Central Food market, center square. Mr. Haverstock assumed his new duties this morning.

The former president was served with a summons last month at the instance of Tebbetts who also instituted similar action against New York Life Insurance company of which Coolidge was a director. Tebbetts said the summons against Coolidge would be dismissed but that a damage suit against the insurance company would be filed.

In his letter the former president said he was informed Tebbetts felt the radio address might be construed "by your friends and acquaintances as reflecting upon you and the plan of insurance you are advocating."

HIGH LEAGUE BUSINESS SLOW OPENS APRIL 8 AT COURT HOUSE

Thirty Baseball Game Schedule Booked For Six High School Teams.

A thirty-game schedule has been mapped out for the Adams county scholastic baseball league, which will open its season on Friday, April 8.

Six teams will form the circuit, Fairfield, last year's champion; Biglerville, Arendtsville, York Springs, New Oxford and Littlestown will be represented.

C. Ross Shuman, proprietor of a local drug store, is again offering a trophy to the league champs. Fairfield gained this award last season, but will have a hard time repeating with all clubs reporting strong combinations.

The Schedule

The league schedule, just released by President C. C. Keefer, New Oxford, is as follows:

April 8, York Springs at Fairfield, Biglerville at Littlestown, New Oxford at Arendtsville; April 15, Fairfield at Biglerville, Littlestown at New Oxford, Arendtsville at York Springs; April 19, Littlestown at Fairfield, Biglerville at Arendtsville, York Springs at New Oxford; April 22, New Oxford at Biglerville, Arendtsville at Fairfield, York Springs at Littlestown; April 26, Biglerville at York Springs, Fairfield at New Oxford, Littlestown at Arendtsville; April 29, Biglerville at Fairfield, New Oxford at Littlestown, York Springs at Arendtsville.

May 3, Arendtsville at Biglerville, New Oxford at York Springs, Fairfield at Littlestown; May 10, Arendtsville at Littlestown, New Oxford at Fairfield, York Springs at Biglerville; May 13, Fairfield at Arendtsville, Littlestown at York Springs, Biglerville at New Oxford; May 20, Fairfield at York Springs, Arendtsville at New Oxford, Littlestown at Biglerville.

Native Observes 91st Anniversary

Samuel Kinneman, the oldest resident of Spring Grove, celebrated his ninety-first birthday anniversary quietly on Tuesday at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Moul, Spring Grove.

Mr. Kinneman was born and raised in the vicinity of Abbotstown. He attended the country school in the township where he was born and continued his educational career at the Pfeiffer academy, New Oxford, at that time a prominent preparatory school.

He taught for 23 years in the public schools of Adams and York counties. He later moved to York, where he carried on a produce business; successfully until seven years ago. He served in the civil war for almost two years. The past seven years he has been making his home with the C. W. Moul family. He is hale and hearty and able to go about town by himself.

New books and puzzles added to our library. Sweetland.

Woodlot Planting Demonstration To Be Held Monday

A farm woodlot planting demonstration will be held on the farm of Mrs. Rose Murren, Mt. Pleasant township, Monday at 1:30 o'clock. Forest tree seedlings have been secured from the state nursery and I. A. Bull, forestry extension specialist, will be in charge of the demonstration. There are many acres of idle land in Adams county that could be producing valuable wood if these areas were reforested. M. T. Hartman, county agent, said. This meeting is open to the public and anyone interested in forest tree planting should plan to attend the meeting.

INSPECT LOCAL REPAIR SECTION

Federal And State Army Officers Conduct Inspection Here Wednesday.

The annual federal and state inspection of the 105th motor repair section, 28th division train, Pennsylvania National Guard unit here, held Wednesday evening at the army in the basement of the First National bank building, center square, was the most successful of five held during the fiscal year of 1931-32. Lieutenant Ralph Deatrick, commanding officer, said today.

Major Romeo H. Freer, of the quartermaster corps, Camp Holabird, Maryland, and Lieutenant Colonel William Zierdt, of Harrisburg, of the inspector general's staff, were the federal and state inspectors, respectively.

They were accompanied here by Major George P. Drake, Harrisburg, commander, and Captain Arthur L. Koch, Harrisburg, instructor for the 28th division train.

Both the federal and state inspectors complimented the 21 members of the local unit upon their proficiency, and Major Drake characterized the inspection as the best he has ever seen the local unit stage. Every local guardsman was present.

The inspectors put the guardsmen through various military drills, first aid, map reading, guard duty and other fundamentals of military training. They also inspected the company records and its equipment.

The local unit has five members on a waiting list.

Trainer Attacked By Circus Lion

Macon, Ga., March 31.—"King," an untamed lion used in an "untamable lion act" in Downie Brothers circus, attacked and critically injured his trainer, Robert McPherson, 45, in winter quarters of the circus Wednesday.

McPherson was taken to a hospital unconscious from a possible fractured skull, severe bone lacerations and internal injuries. The lion had torn off his left ear.

The tamer was armed only with a pistol loaded with blank cartridges. He lost consciousness before attendants rescued him from the cage where the brief, one-sided battle occurred.

Downie Brothers circus has played here several seasons.

COUNTY HOME STEWARD TAKES OFFICE FRIDAY

George Patterson Moves To Littlestown; Calvin Smith New Official.

DR. C. G. CRIST IS PHYSICIAN

George Patterson, steward at the Adams county home for eight years, will move to Littlestown, Friday, and his place will be taken by Calvin Smith, Straban township, who was defeated for the republican nomination for county commissioner last year.

Patterson was replaced by the new board of directors of the poor which took office the first of this year. The new board has a republican majority, William M. Deatrick and A. S. Mills being the republican members, and George E. Little, the democratic member.

While the new board of director appointed a new physician, attorney and clerk at the beginning of their term, it is customary for the retiring steward to remain on duty for three months. Dr. C. G. Crist is the new physician; Robert E. Wible, the new attorney, and Clarence I. Snyder, the new clerk, replacing Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Charles E. Stahl and A. P. Wagner.

Other Employees

Arthur Henning, first teamster at the county home, has been replaced by Isaac Wilt, New Oxford. Henning has accepted a position at the Hoffman orphanage. Paul Shultz will continue as second teamster.

Charles Lauver, who was in charge of the old men's building, will be succeeded on Friday by Allen McGuigan, Gettysburg. Lauver will move back to his home at Mummaburg.

John Heck, near Gettysburg, was not a candidate for re-appointment as janitor, and will be succeeded by Roy Martin, of near Heidlersburg.

Patterson has not decided what he will do after moving back to Littlestown. He is a farmer and cigarmaker by trade. He is a veteran of foreign wars.

ATHLETES OF BIGLER HIGH SEEK BERTHS

Baseball And Track Candidates Report To Coaches; Opening Game Next Week.

Biglerville high school's baseball and track candidates reported for their initial practice Tuesday, approximately forty aspirants turning out for berths on the teams.

Twenty-two candidates reported to Coach George Porney for positions on his baseball team. Of these, five have had experience and around them the Biglerville mentor will build his squad. Bream, Baumgardner, J. Deardorff, Burnett and Raff are the veterans. Other candidates are Delp, Hutton, Miller, Bringham, Bomberger, Smallwood, Sadler, Heiges, Koonz, Bowers, Thomas, Stallsmith, Lupp, Gindesperger, Coddington, R. Miller and Shaffer.

The Biglerville lads have hopes of coping the county league title this spring and are anxious to open the season. The first game will be played next Friday at Littlestown.

New Field

The new Biglerville high athletic field will be used for the first time this season and all indications point to a strong track team being developed on the new field. Coach L. V. Stock will have eleven veterans on his squad. Those reporting for practice are Bucher, J. W. Deardorff, J. Deardorff, Baumgardner, Thomas, P. Wagner, D. Wagner, Lower, Heiges, Stallsmith, Koonz, Shaffer, Rose, Lawver, Beamer, Brough, Miller, Rouizer, Shue, Eckert, Fidler, Bomberger and R. Miller.

As yet the season's schedule has not been announced, but the first meet in which the Biglerville track stars will compete will be on April 23 at Shippensburg State Teachers' college.

STOCK REPORT

New York, March 31 (AP).—The stock market opened higher, but eased off quickly today. Early gains ranging up to a point or more were sharply reduced by the end of the first half hour and several issues showed small losses.

FIND $35,000 IN SECURITIES IN MISER'S SHACK

Ridgway, March 31 (AP).—Securities worth $35,000 were found in the cold, dark shack where Alfred Carlson, 65, died after years of self-imposed privation.

Carlson's body today is in a casket that cost $1,000. For years he bought only over-ripe fruit and stale bread for food. These he crammed into a black bag he always carried and for that reason he was popularly known as "the man with the black bag."

A search of Carlson's hut brought to light Liberty bonds, building and loan stock and other investments. He had been employed as a night watchman until a few years ago.

The man was not married. He is believed to have a brother and sister in Sweden.

CATTLE DEALER DIES SUDDENLY

Harry McHenry, 67, Frederick, Succumbs Shortly After Arriving Here.

Harry McHenry, 67, a cattle dealer of Frederick, died suddenly about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon of embolism, in the Edward Toddes sale and exchange stables, West Lincoln highway, a few minutes after arriving at the stables. Mr. McHenry's brother, Victor, died in Philadelphia Tuesday. The brothers will be buried Friday morning.

McHenry arrived at the Toddes stables Tuesday afternoon with a truckload of horses from Chambersburg. Upon his arrival he complained to William Thompson that he was feeling ill and that he believed he had an attack of indigestion.

Thompson secured a rocking chair and Mr. McHenry sat in the chair to rest. Thompson turned to proceed with his work and a few minutes later returned to McHenry and found him dead.

Double Funeral

Dr. Edgar A. Miller, county coroner, was summoned, and he said that death was probably due to embolism.

Mr. McHenry was the owner of the Meadow Valley farm along the Biglerville road when the large barn on the premises was destroyed by fire last year. Shortly afterward, however, the place was sold to his brother, Charles McHenry, of Carlisle. While residing at the Meadow Valley place, Mr. McHenry bought and sold horses, and planned to develop the farm for winter quarters for race horses. The fire, however, halted his plans.

The deceased is survived by one son, Harvey, of Hagerstown, and the following brothers and sisters: Allen, of Frederick; William and Richard, of Hagerstown; Charles, of Carlisle; Grover, of Persville, Virginia; Bradley, of Baltimore; the Misses Blanche and Jennie, of Frederick, and Miss Addie, of Baltimore.

The body was prepared for burial by H. B. Bender & Son, and this morning was removed to Frederick. A double funeral over the bodies of Harry and his brother, Victor, will be held Friday morning, with burial in Frederick.

AIR MAIL PILOT FLIES TO DEATH NEAR AIRPORT

Cleveland, March 31 (AP).—Pilot Forest Malick, carrying the night mail from New York to Cleveland, flew to his death in a fog and rain-storm before dawn today.

His body was found in an open field near Bedford, a Cleveland suburb, after a search of several hours. Malick was within a few miles of the Cleveland airport when death overtook him. Malick had switched off the ignition, evidently knowing he was going to crash. The pilot was 24 years old and single. His home was in Newark, New Jersey.

Colored Couple Married Here

Anna Belle Bolen and Leroy Kelly, both colored, of Harrisburg, were married by Clayton F. Palmer, clerk of the courts, Wednesday afternoon, after he issued the couple a marriage license at his office in the court house.

A marriage license also was issued Wednesday afternoon to Norman E. Auchey, Abbotstown, and Bessie E. Rinker, Oxford township.

HOSPITAL REPORT

William D. Gilbert, Jr., Chambersburg street, who has been seriously ill with quinsy for several days, was admitted as a patient to the Warner hospital.

Councilman Clarence W. Epley, Chambersburg street, was discharged as a patient.

JOHN PETERS, OF FAIRFIELD, ATTEMPTS LIFE

75-year-old Countian Slashes His Throat Several Times, Wednesday.

FIVE STITCHES PUT IN THROAT

After slashing his throat several times, in what physicians said was a suicide attempt, John F. Peters, 75, of Fairfield, was prevented from inflicting a fatal wound, Wednesday afternoon, by Earl Myers, a neighbor, who took a razor away from the man.

Dr. Ira Henderson, Fairfield, who dressed the man's throat wounds, said Peters had been in ill health for many months, but had never intimated that he would take his own life.

Wednesday afternoon, Mary Peters, a daughter, saw her father go into a woodshed at their home, carrying a razor. Fearing that her father might injure or kill himself, she notified Myers, who went to the woodshed and found Peters with his throat slashed in several places.

Myers took the razor away from Peters, and led him into the house.

Doctor Henderson used five stitches to close the wounds in the man's neck.

Peters is a laborer.

165 CHICKS BURN IN BARLOW FIRE

Brooder House On George Geiselman Farm Destroyed By Fire.

A small chicken house on the farm of George Geiselman, near Barlow, was destroyed by fire shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. One hundred and sixty-five three weeks' old chicks were consumed.

The fire was of undetermined origin, although it is believed it started from the coal oil brooder stove with which the house was heated.

Although the chicken house, a ten by twelve foot structure, was close to the barn, no other buildings were threatened.

The Barlow fire company and neighbors extinguished the flames. The loss is estimated at $50.

Dr. Thomas L. Cline Is Speaker At College Women's Meeting.

Art of the thirteenth century and of Florence, Italy, was the subject chosen by Dr. Thomas L. Cline for his talk before the meeting of the Gettysburg chapter of the Woman's League of Gettysburg college held Wednesday afternoon in Christ Lutheran church. Doctor Cline also gave a short resume of the work of Michelangelo during the fifteenth and sixteenth century in the city of Florence.

Tulips, forsythia and pussywillows added a springtime atmosphere to the rooms and several of the hostesses were cleverly costumed to represent spring flowers. All hostesses wore small bouquets of flowers suggestive the season. Another appropriate note was the reading of Kipling's poem "The Flowers" by Mrs. Robert Marsh.

A miniature garden also featured the meeting and added materially to the day's collection for any plant or flowers which comprised the garden could be taken home by members or guests who were expected to leave a money gift to take its place. Hostesses for the meeting included Mrs. J. I. Burgoon, Mrs. Blaine G. Walter, Mrs. E. Dale Heiges, Mrs. George D. Stahley, Mrs. Thomas L. Cline, Mrs. A. R. Wentz, Mrs. W. C. Walmeyer, Mrs. Herbert L. Grimm, Mrs. Anna C. Plank, Mrs. Robert Marsh and Mrs. Jesse F. Boughton.

Mrs. Robert Fortenbaugh, president of the local chapter, presided.

Politics At Random
By BYRON PRICE
Associated Press Staff

By Byron Price
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

A few rays of light are beginning to pierce the fog of democratic dis-sension over prohibition.

Two Roosevelt-dominated state conventions—in Washington and Minnesota—have adopted planks for a referendum by states. Could this have happened without definite prompting from Governor Roosevelt himself?

As politics go, it seems unlikely. Roosevelt is on record as favoring outright appeal, yet his lieutenants have shown a continuing disposition to be satisfied with a referendum.

The Roosevelt forces, if they do not actually control the national convention, are certain to be a very powerful factor in it.

It was a referendum that Chairman John J. Raskob favored at the spring national committee meeting. Can the extreme dry wing of the party withstand the Roosevelt influence, plus the Raskob influence, plus whatever other elements of strength they may muster?

To answer such a question is beyond the province of this writer. It is sufficient for the present to observe where, and in what manner, the line of cleavage is forming.

SPRING

This time of the year brings a promise of a better season for all of us. That sense of ease and relaxation that Spring brings to the minds of most people is what is necessary for the well-being of the country.

If the now-famous depression is not as much mental as actual, it is at least certain that we will not rid ourselves of it until the depression is lifted from the minds of the people.

And Spring brings a feeling of upliftedness!

FOLLOWING previous announcements in the news columns of the merging of the Citizens Trust Company with the First National Bank we are happy in this opportunity to extend a most cordial invitation to all patrons of the Citizens Trust Company to continue their pleasant relations with the merged institution on Center Square.

THE methodical process of transferring the assets of the Trust Company to the First National will necessitate a few days. However, all commercial banking and savings business of the Citizens Trust Company is now being transacted from the First National Bank.

CITIZENS TRUST COMPANY checks and pass books will be honored at our bank, until new forms can be substituted. Business of the Trust Department of the Citizens Trust Company will be transacted from the Citizens Trust Company for the present and later will be transferred to our banking rooms.

WITH this merger we offer a larger and stronger banking institution under the same conservative guidance we have offered our patrons for more than 74 years of continuous operation from the same location.

OUR larger resources and greatly enlarged Trust Department and all other known services of a banking institution are available to you under the new combination. We know you will be served graciously, efficiently, courteously and with the same degree of respect you enjoyed at the Citizens Trust Company. We want you to feel free to call upon us for any banking service you desire. It shall be our uppermost purpose to serve you as you have been accustomed.

WE EXTEND this most cordial invitation to all former patrons of the Citizens Trust Company to continue their pleasant affiliation with us. We will be pleased to serve you and desire to assure each and every patron of our conscientious service regardless of the size of the account.

Professor Charles I. Raffensperger has announced the honor roll for the third term at the Biglerville high school as follows: seniors—Mildred Bricker, Ivan Brunk, Norma Crum, Edith Funt, Marie Funt, Richard Raffensperger and Grace Welker; juniors—Harold Heiges, Elmer Hoke, Esther Howe, Asehat Myers and Lucille Paxton; sophomores—Nancy Dill, Edna Garrettson, Jean Group, Jean Guise, Verna Stewart and Isabel Shank; freshmen—Ruby Anderson, Clyde Bricker, Dorothy Coddington, Virginia Delp, Martha Enck, Jean Fohl, Mary Heller, Gladys Miller, Mildred Sell and Anna Blocher; eighth grade—Mary Enck, Arthur Rice, Jane Rice and Dorothy Walton; seventh grade—Wallace Coddington and Eleanor Dill.

Nancy Dill, of the sophomore class, and Esther Howe, of the junior class, were the only students to receive 6 A's and 1 B. Special credit is also given to Isabel Shank, who received 5 A's and 1 B.

Mrs. Annie Hoffman, who will leave Arendtsville within a few days to make her home at Bedford, was honored by the members of the Sunday school class to which she belongs when they tended her a farewell surprise party Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trostel in Arendtsville. The husbands of the class members also attended the party. Those present were the class teacher, A. D. Sheely and Mrs. Sheely, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Skinner, Mrs. W. E. Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Blaine Bushey, Mrs. Luther Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Orner, Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Trostel, Mrs. H. N. Trostel, Miss Margaret Eldon, Paul Orner and Richard Trostel.

Mrs. Elmer Hoke and family have moved from the Wallace V. Peters property on East York street, Biglerville, to the Lonsdorf property on the same street. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Arnold will move from Gettysburg into the house vacated by the Hokes within the next few days. C. H. Musselman purchased the Peters property some time ago.

The members of the Journalist club of the Biglerville high school visited The Gettysburg Times offices today in order to observe the operations of a modern printing plant.

Included in the party were the class faculty advisor, George Forney; Marian Garrettson, Norma Crum, Nancy Dill, Edith Funt, Jane Rice, Dorothy Walton, Glenn Freed, Leo Baker, Richard Walton, Arthur Rice and Paul Tyson.

George W. Smith, of Biglerville, made a trip to Harper's Ferry Wednesday.

Clifford Bucher, of Cumberland, Maryland, spent the week-end in Biglerville with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Bucher.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wishard are moving this week from the Wilmer Roth property in Biglerville to their farm west of town.

Miss Margaret Trostel has returned to Harrisburg after a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trostel, of Arendtsville.

CASHTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leisinger returned Friday from a ten weeks' motor trip to Pittsburgh, Girard and Cleveland, Ohio, spending six weeks at Cleveland with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leisinger. The trip was made without mishap until near Bedford on the homeward way where a tire blew out with such force that their car ran down a five-foot embankment into a double wire fence. Neither Mr. or Mrs. Leisinger was hurt but the fenders and wheels of the car were damaged.

Mrs. James Andrew and Dorothy Andrew visited Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Biggs and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Biesecker, Orntanna, Friday. Little Mildred Biesecker, who is suffering with an abscessed arm, is somewhat better.

Mary Rife, Lancaster, and Sara Rife, who is attending the University of Kentucky, at Lexington, spent their Easter vacation with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Rife.

Paul Bittinger, Mrs. Helen Hartman and sons, Jay and Dickie, Harrisburg, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bittinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mark, Ruth and David Mark, Hagerstown, and Anna McLaughlin, Gettysburg, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Annie Shultz.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bittinger and daughter, Mary, motored to Harrisburg, Friday.

Mrs. George Gochmour spent last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gochmour, near Arendtsville. Miss Mary Myers, Fayetteville, visited her aunt, Mrs. Daniel Kuhn, Friday.

Mrs. James Ball spent several days recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Rebert, who is ill with gripe.

The Rev. G. Howard Koons, of Fairfield, was entertained Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Andrew.

MUMMASBURG

Mummasburg—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Altomose, of Chambersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Gilden, of Gettysburg, were guests of Harry Harmon at the home of Roy Leatherman.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harmon were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hoke and daughter, Janet, Miss Marlon Lavelper, Mrs. Stella Topper and son, Gregory, all of Hanover; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kaylor and children, Theresa, Junior, Louise and Delores, of Midway.

Mary Fritz, who was confined to her bed by illness, is able to be up again.

Harry Harman, who was confined to his bed by illness, is slowly improving.

Mrs. Maggie Allison and Norman Singley and family have moved from here to the house of Mrs. H. E. Berkey in Gettysburg.

Lloyd Hess and family have moved from Gettysburg to the house vacated by Mrs. Allison and the Singleys.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Staley and children, Olive, Colleen, Marcella and Junior, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Staley, at Mt. Alto.

John Allison and family have moved to the Deardorff farm near the Flohr's church. Howard Baker and family have moved to the farm vacated by the Allison.

Honor Memory Of Reading President

Every wheel on the Reading company system was still for one minute at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon as a tribute to the memory of Agnew T. Dice, president of that railroad, who died suddenly on a street car in Philadelphia last Friday evening. All trains were stopped and all work was suspended at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, the hour for the funeral.

The services were held from the home of a daughter in Reading where interment also was made.

Ten Get Permits For Bathing Places

Official permits for the operation of bathing places during the current year have been issued by Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, to ten applicants, out of the more than 200 who have asked for inspection.

The very limited field force of engineers who do the inspection work previous to the permit being issued is constantly on the move, under the supervision of George W. Moore, engineer in charge. Applications are now being received in increased numbers, and inspections are being made as fast as possible.

MAJOR LEAGUE BERTH WEEK-END AVOCATION

Chicago (AP). — Billy Sullivan, son of the old-time Chicago White Sox catcher, will be big league baseball's first "week-end" player this spring.

His studies at Notre Dame, where he is taking a post-graduate course in law, will keep him out of mid-week action until mid-June.

He will commute to play for the Sox on Saturday and Sunday games until school's out.

Washington Highlights

By Herbert Plummer

Washington—When the Hon. Jack Garner finally got around to putting on his full dress suit and silk top and attended a White House function in his honor, some of the newspaper boys went to his downtown hotel apartment to persuade him to pose for a picture.

"Speaker Jack" didn't take to the suggestion with much enthusiasm at first. But finally he consented and with Mrs. Garner lined up for the picture.

Just before the flash, he thought he noticed a semblance of a smile on the face of a photographer who, perhaps, has "shot" the Garner countenance more often than any other man in Washington. A sort of friendship has grown up between the two.

"Hey," he shouted, Garner gaily at the photographer, "you wipe that dad-gum grin off your face, else I'll not wear these things tonight!"

That little incident was recalled when the "Hon. Jack" came out the other day with his bristling denunciation of republicans for what he termed trying to take credit for legislation thus far inaugurated in congress to relieve the economic ills of the country.

The gentleman from Texas has tumbled to the fact that somebody may be grinning at him and his democratism and that's one thing he will not tolerate—whether the grin comes from a news photographer or worse (in his mind) a group of republicans.

In the old days when Garner was the fighting leader of the democrats on the floor of the house, he was tremendously fond of indulging in a practice which he called "helgebiting."

"Helgebiting" is defined in the Garner dictionary as "a rough and tumble process of rawhiding republicans until they are forced to the point of yelling 'hell-she-bites!'"

Since assuming the dignity of speaker, Garner has had very little opportunity to "helgebite," of necessity, he is now confined to formal statements or more or less dignified utterances in his conferences with newspapermen.

But that doesn't mean that he has forgotten how or that his thrusts now are any the less sharp. Anyone who read his statement the other day, in which he belabored republican orators whom he said have undertaken to "Glorify" the president because of the vital legislation that has had bipartisan support in congress, can readily see that.

Watch out for these things called "helgebiters" in the future.

Grain Inspector, 89, Drives Car To Work

Minneapolis (AP).—At 89 Col. R. A. Wilkinson drives his own automobile 20 miles to work every day, plays chess every noon to relax from duties as grain inspector, and drives home again at eventide. He is a Civil war veteran who 25 years ago was told he had "a year or less" to live. At that time he terminated his association with James J. Hill, the "Empire builder," to whom he had been legal adviser for nearly a quarter century, and, regaining his health in farming, re-entered politics.

Wilkinson says he has no thought of retiring.

Just Folks

EDGAR A. GUEST

DARING

They're not paying fancy money for the ordinary labor.
They are cutting down the wages for the work that all can do.
Now the rate is down for old tasks.
But they're paying well for bold tasks,
And a youth will be rewarded for what's difficult and new.

There seems little in the future for the common order taker,
And but little for the fellow who says: "Tell me what to do."
But the youngster with ambition
Who'll defy old-time tradition,
Will find fame and fortune waiting when he works his problem through.

Oh, the ruts of life are crowded with a squirming mass of workers.
But there's room afar aplenty for the daring pioneers.
And the brave and the undaunted
Who will find the new things wanted.
Will be welcomed by the Nation
And be honored down the years.

SCOUTS SEEK SPRING SIGNS IN NATURE HUNT

Boy Scouts of Troop 79, Methodist church, combed Adams county Monday in search of signs of spring. They emerged after two hours of searching with forty-two distinct tokens establishing the fact that warm weather cannot be so far away.

The scouts, who make their headquarters at the Methodist church, started out from that place under the leadership of their scoutmaster. They looked underneath rocks, peered into muddy pools, examined rotten logs and raked aside dry leaves. Every young root was measured carefully to determine the state of its growth and development. Signs of spring unearthed during the investigation included red ants, field garlic, red squirrels, bark lice, blue birds, wild strawberry leaves, salamanders, marginal shield ferns, snails and a jack-in-the-pulpit. Animal life on the whole was kept hidden, while plant life showed marked progress.

Scout Jack Cessna, a rather dimutive searcher, did not confine his investigation to wild life. His biggest discovery was a spring chicken bone which he claimed to be the surest discovery of the day, but as this was located outside of the restaurant, the find was ruled out. Scout Ernie Hamm, much to the horror of the scoutmaster, turned up with many well-developed stalks of the cultivated blue flag. He was advised to discard it and stay as far away from the spot where he picked it up as possible. Scout Worthington attempted to appear with a straw hat, but was caught in the act and lost a valuable token.

The most exhaustive search of the day was performed in the quest for salamanders. The salamander makes its home under rocks in the vicinity of water, it was learned, and few rocks along Rock creek were left unturned. One dark and rock-rimmed pool was the spot on which Scout Jimmie Tate concentrated his investigations. Kneeling on hands and knees Scout Tate fished out one form of animal life after another.

"Quite a specimen," he murmured thoughtfully after each haul. None of the searchers rivalled Scout Tate in singleness of purpose.

At the close of the afternoon the scouts assembled at their headquarters and reported. Assistant Scoutmaster Stauffer, sitting in judgment on the discoveries, ruled favorably or adversely on the reports.

"Rabbits don't count," he intoned as the lists were read off. "Wild strawberry leaves, all right; honeysuckle, not a sign of spring."

When Scout Earl Mickley, known for his over-enthusiastic search, made his report, Mr. Stauffer made a cross-examination.

"What does a dogwood blossom look like?" he inquired.

"Well," said Scout Mickley confidently, "it grows on the end of a red stem, close to the ground."

"Cross out dogwood blossoms," said the scoutmaster. "Now, Mickley, you say you saw an Isabella tiger moth. Was it active?"

"No," replied Scout Mickley. "It just moved along."

"That's what I mean by active," said the scoutmaster. "Did it show animation?"

"Animation," that's the word I wanted," exclaimed Mickley. "Sure it was very animated."

MAKE PLANS FOR PLAYGROUND CENTER

Chambersburg—Henninger field, recently acquired by town council, will be opened as a central recreation center this summer under the supervision of the playgrounds committee of council.

This decision was reached by the committee after a conference with Norman Rines of East King street, Temple university student, who this year for the third successive year will be the playgrounds director for Chambersburg.

CITY CONFRONTED WITH PARKING

Waynesboro—The parking problem which confronts the Waynesboro police department will take much thought before a solution is reached, according to Burgess J. W. Croft Tuesday.

Waynesboro borough council opened a parking space for three hundred automobiles in the rear of the Arcade building over a year ago to relieve traffic congestion on Saturday nights. Even this is overflowing as the week-end traffic grows heavier.

ROTARY SPEAKER ASKS COOPERATION

Waynesboro—Stressing the need of cooperation instead of competition, and urging each man to get acquainted with himself as well as with his family, Lieutenant Colonel C. Seymour Bullock, South Bend, Indiana, spoke before the Waynesboro Rotary club Tuesday at noon on "What Makes Rotary Rotate." It was an outstanding address, punctuated with telling points, by a former boys' work secretary of Rotary International.

FREDERICK COUNTY

KITTEN'S ACTIONS SAVES FAMILY

Frederick — A kitten probably saved the lives of two persons and possibly saved four others from serious effects of gas early Tuesday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kennedy, 343 South Market street. The peculiar actions of the kitten, affected by the gas, caused it to awake members of the family, who were horrified to find fumes.

The lower part of their home full of those who were within closest range of the deadening fumes were Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy's three-year-old son, Richard, sleeping alone just over the doorway, and a colored servant, Viola Young, 21, of Doubts, who had apparently attempted to commit suicide.

DISMISS CLAIM OF COMMISSIONERS

Kitty Frew

by JANE ABBOTT

SYNOPSIS: While Marge Crueby tries to interest Gar, Frew through their work in amateur theatricals, Gar's wife, Kitty, contentedly stays at home and manages their small household. Kitty keeps a budget—and Gar proves himself a rich man's son in his extravagance. She begins to worry about their expenses.

Chapter 27

THREE PINK ROSEBUDS

"I told Di we could get along without her. She had something else on this afternoon," Marge had explained casually.

She had produced a long list of names. "Your mother made it out, Gar. I ran into her at the Century Club yesterday and she asked me if she could help us. Wasn't that dear of her when she's so busy? She said a lot of nice things about what we're doing. She's going to give a theater party the first night. That'll make splendid publicity. Oh, speaking of publicity—I'm going to ask the Times to send that Dorcas Taber over to get a feature story of the whole thing. It'll run well—all about the theater and who's really back of it and who's in the first cast and Somerset and everything."

"Good idea!" Gar had responded promptly. But he had been thinking how stunning Marge looked in the thing she was wearing, whatever it was. She looked like the favorite in a harem; he had played with that fancy while Marge was talking.

He had been lounging comfortably against the rose damask cushion of the divan, his feet stretched out toward the fire.

"I've got to do something about Somerset, Gar," she had said slowly. "He's well, he's taking too much for granted. But I can't offend him, just now. I wish you'd sort of stick around. If you'd go to the rehearsals—"

"The big boulder! Why didn't you say something about it before? You bet, I'll stick round. He has his nerve!"

Marge had sighed faintly. Her hand had reached out and tucked itself under Gar's arm. He was always completely at home in Marge's sitting room, pleasantly conscious of its luxury, of its seclusion, of the privilege that was his in so enjoying it.

She had told him of the progress the Players were making. The costumes had been ordered from New York. He must see what Gordon Wing was doing with the back drop for the first act—it was perfect! Her low voice had run on and on from one thing to another, while Gar had listened and watched the little play of muscles under the fine skin of her throat.

"Gar, I had a wonderful talk with your mother, about you. Of course she'd say things to me that she wouldn't say to anyone else because she knows what friends you and I have been. She was so sweet I just opened my heart to her. I told her—well, I'm not going to tell you what I told her. You would have guessed it a long time ago except that you're so blind—"

"You're going to tell me, Marge!" Gar had asserted masterfully. "Shoot!"

She had shaken her head; she had leaned a little closer to his shoulder, her face bent away from him. When she answered there had been a suggestion of tears in her faltering voice.

"But there isn't any use, now. You've married Kitty. And you've spoiled me for anyone else. It's always been like that—that's the way I felt last winter when I came out. I didn't give a hang about any of the parties when you weren't going to be there. Oh—" She stirred restlessly. "I hate everything now! I'm sick of the crowd, of all this fuss over the theater. I'm going away from Winton this spring and I'm never coming back. I think I'll live in Paris all the rest of my life. Will you miss me, Gar?"

Gar had been touched by her confession, flattered. "I'll go after you and bring you back," he had answered quickly, vehemently. He had put his arm about her shoulder and kissed her. "Gosh, Marge, I'd miss you a lot! You can't go away!"

"Would you?" she had whispered against his arm.

He had straightened, smiling down at her.

"To prove that I think of you I sent you some flowers today—"

"Oh! Selby told me there were flowers—I haven't opened the box. I thought they were from Somerset. How dear of you, Gar!"

"I didn't put in a card. I wanted to see if you remembered our old nonsense. The three pink rosebuds—"

"Gar! How cute—that you remember. I—love—you. It wasn't nonsense—last winter. Gar!" Then she had drawn quickly away from him, pulled a cord that released a bright circle of light from a lamp at the end of the divan. She had flung back her shoulders, dramatically. "We're crazy, Gar, talking like this—"

"Good gracious, I didn't dream it was so late!" Gar had sprung to his feet. "I've got to beat it. You can depend on me, Marge—about Somerset. And forget that going away stuff."

"Thanks, Gar." Her voice had been sweet, a little plaintive.

Driving home Gar had frowned heavily, thinking of Somerset's presuming on any intimacy with Marge. He'd show him where he got off!

views. He begins by announcing, sincerely, "I am very dull," and then makes valiant attempts to turn interviewer into interviewee.

"Ha, ha," he seems to gloat slyly, "we'll see if this fellow can take it as well as he dishes it out."

"Only he wouldn't say it that way—his speech is cultured, rapid, clipped—well, you've heard it in 'The Yellow Ticket' and will again in 'Westward Passage,' the new Ann Harding picture. It's a speech that couldn't well be adapted to American gangsterese."

Oliver's resemblance to Ronald Coleman has been noted before. He is anything but "dull."

Like The Theatre

The Oliviers have a perfect slant on Hollywood. They don't want to stay too long, because they want to stay free of the movie virus, which gets in the blood and ties actors here, for more.

They have a great time by themselves, have few friends and believe Hollywood "night life" a waste of time. "It's terribly easy to fritter time away out here and difficult to keep occupied outside working hours—profitably occupied, that is," "I don't mean," says Laurence, "we don't like Hollywood. We like the theatre better."

Kitty Frew

by JANE ABBOTT

SYNOPSIS: While Marge Crosby tries to interest Garfield Frew through their work in amateur theatricals, Gar's wife, Kitty, contentedly stays at home and manages their small household. Kitty keeps a budget—and Gar proves himself a rich man's son in his extravagance. She begins to worry about their expenses.

Chapter 27

THREE PINK ROSEBUDS

"I told Di we could get along without her. She had something else on this afternoon," Marge had explained casually.

She had produced a long list of names. "Your mother made it out, Gar. I ran into her at the Century Club yesterday and she asked me if she could help us. Wasn't that dear of her when she's so busy? She said a lot of nice things about what we're doing. She's going to give a theater party the first night. That'll make splendid publicity. Oh, speaking of publicity—I'm going to ask the Times to send that Dorcas Taber over to get a feature story of the whole thing. It'll run well—all about the theater and who's really back of it and who's in the first cast and Somerset and everything."

"Good idea!" Gar had responded promptly. But he had been thinking how stunning Marge looked in the thing she was wearing, whatever it was. She looked like the favorite in a harem; he had played with that fancy while Marge was talking.

He had been lounging comfortably against the rose damask cushion of the divan, his feet stretched out toward the fire.

"I've got to do something about Somerset, Gar," she had said slowly. "He's well, he's taking too much for granted. But I can't offend him, just now. I wish you'd sort of stick around. If you'd go to the rehearsals—"

"The big boulder! Why didn't you say something about it before? You bet, I'll stick round. He has his nerve!"

Marge had sighed faintly. Her hand had reached out and tucked itself under Gar's arm. He was always completely at home in Marge's sitting room, pleasantly conscious of its luxury, of its seclusion, of the privilege that was his in so enjoying it.

She had told him of the progress the Players were making. The costumes had been ordered from New York. He must see what Gordon Wing was doing with the back drop for the first act—it was perfect! Her low voice had run on and on from one thing to another, while Gar had listened and watched the little play of muscles under the fine skin of her throat.

"Gar, I had a wonderful talk with your mother, about you. Of course she'd say things to me that she wouldn't say to anyone else because she knows what friends you and I have been. She was so sweet I just opened my heart to her. I told her—well, I'm not going to tell you what I told her. You would have guessed it a long time ago except that you're so blind—"

"You're going to tell me, Marge!" Gar had asserted masterfully. "Shoot!"

She had shaken her head; she had leaned a little closer to his shoulder, her face bent away from him. When she answered there had been a suggestion of tears in her faltering voice.

"But there isn't any use, now. You've married Kitty. And you've spoiled me for anyone else. It's always been like that—that's the way I felt last winter when I came out. I didn't give a hang about any of the parties when you weren't going to be there. Oh— She stirred restlessly. "I hate everything now! I'm sick of the crowd of all this fuss over the theater. I'm going away from Winton this spring and I'm never coming back. I think I'll live in Paris all the rest of my life. Will you miss me, Gar?"

Gar had been touched by her confession, flattered. "I'll go after you and bring you back," he had answered quickly, vehemently. He had put his arm about her shoulder and kissed her. "Gosh, Marge, I'd miss you a lot! You can't go away!"

"Would you?" she had whispered against his arm.

He had straightened, smiling down at her.

"To prove that I think of you I sent you some flowers today—"

"Oh! Selby told me there were flowers—I haven't opened the box; I thought they were from Somerset. How dear of you, Gar!"

"I didn't put in a card. I wanted to see if you remembered our old nonsense. The three pink rosebuds—"

"Gar! How cute—that you remember. 'I-love-you.' It wasn't nonsense—last winter, Gar!" Then she had drawn quickly away from him, pulled a cord that released a bright circle of light from a lamp at the end of the divan. She had flung back her shoulders, dramatically. "We're crazy, Gar, talking like this—"

"Good gracious, I didn't dream it was so late!" Gar had sprung to his feet. "I've got to beat it. You can depend on me, Marge—about Somerset. And forget that going away stuff."

"Thanks, Gar." Her voice had been sweet, a little plaintive.

Driving home Gar had frowned heavily, thinking of Somerset's presuming on any intimacy with Marge. He'd show him where he got off!

It did not occur to him that Marge could have done that herself, weeks ago. He was all chivalry, all affection for Marge. What if she did go away to live in Paris?

But he had forgotten that alarm when he reached home. Kitty and her eager hungry embrace had met him at the door.

"You're going to wear your ecru-sage, aren't you?"

"Of course. It's in the icebox."

"It's lovely, Gar."

"Well, so are you."

"Do I look all right?"

"Beautiful. You're getting class."

Kit. What are you doing? What beauty parlor are you going to?

First thing I know I'll see your picture on some ad for cold cream or powder."

Kitty laughed lightly. Gar's easy praise was intoxicating to her; the needed no new dress, she needed no artificial color on cheeks or lips. She brought the corsage to him to pin on to her shoulder.

"The devil!" Gar cried, laughing suddenly. "That isn't what I ordered for you—those three pink rosebuds. I told that fellow I wanted orchids."

"But I love these, Gar. And orchids are so frightfully expensive."

Gar laughed again. "Not when I'm sending them to you."

They met the others at the Rainbow Gardens. They met there frequently, the head waiter always greeted them with considerable concern that they should have the table they wanted. Or on Kitty, following Gar into the crowd, thought of Josie, looked for her among the dancers and at the tables. She told Tubby much about Josie, and Tubby had laughed with her, but not at Josie, and she had liked him better for that.

There were to be ten of them tonight, at a long table. Diana came with Buck Sewall Red came alone. Tubby with Isobel Peters, others joined them. Tubby took the chair next to Kitty and began whispering in her ear.

"Say, you look out of sight tonight."

"Tubby, this old dress. You see me in it every time I go anywhere!"

"I thought it was a new one, honest."

"You're silly."

But she warmed to his nonsense. Tubby amused her with his devotion, his clumsy humor. She felt at ease with him. With the others, at times like this, it was like playing a part in a play, the role of which she knew well, now.

Gar was at the other end of the table. He had kept the chair next to him empty. He was watching the door. Presently he sprang to his feet. "Here's Marge."

Marge approached the table with Paul Somerset. The others hailed her coming a little boisterously.

It was Gar, not Somerset, who took Marge's evening coat from her shoulders. "Sit here," he commanded, indicating the unoccupied chair next to him. It left one for Somerset across the table. "I'm on the job," he added in a low tone.

Marge lifted a deeply reproachful look to him as she slipped into the seat he had saved for her. Her fingers went significantly to the orchids against her shoulder. Her eyes traveled swiftly down the table and met Kitty's wide startled glance fixed on her. She laughed softly, her lips scarcely parting over the sound.

At their end of the table Tubby was deep in a story which he was pouring into Kitty's ear. All at once he became aware that she was not listening. He thought she spoke. "What did you say, Kitty?"

She turned back to him, here eyes blue-black, a heightened color on her cheeks. "Did I say anything? If I did—it was only that it was just silly, thinking it for a moment—"

"But what I'm telling you is gospel truth, Kit! It happened—to a fellow I know."

Christmas eve brings Kitty a present of tragedy, tomorrow.

Hollywood

Sights & Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood—Lawrence Olivier and Jill Esmond, his wife, share the opinion that no work, certainly not pictures, is important enough to keep them apart.

They have contracts at the same studio, and they have an understanding that if the option on either is not exercised they both will leave. They're beautifully independent—and sincere about it.

When Laurence and Jill—he is a handsome young Englishman and she a fair slim beauty—came to New York to play in "Private Lives" Laurence received movie offers.

"I insisted magnanimously," he relates, "that they couldn't have me unless they took Jill, too. 'All right,' they said, 'we'll test her.' They did, and the next I knew they were crazy about Jill and had almost forgotten me. So I trailed along after Jill, and here we are."

Says He's "Dull"

Olivier, I imagine, detests interviews. He begins by announcing, sincerely, "I am very dull," and then makes valiant attempts to turn interviewer into interviewee.

"Ha, ha," he seems to gloat slyly, "we'll see if this fellow can take it as well as he dishes it out."

Only he wouldn't say it that way—his speech is cultured, rapid, clipped—well, you've heard it in "The Yellow Ticket" and will again in "Westward Passage," the new Ann Harding picture. It's a speech that couldn't well be adapted to American gangsterese.

Olivier's resemblance to Ronald Coleman has been noted before. He is anything but "dull."

Like The Theatre

The Oliviers have a perfect slant on Hollywood. They don't want to stay too long, because they want to stay free of the movie virus, which gets in the blood and ties actors here—for more.

They have a great time by themselves, have few friends and believe Hollywood "night life" a waste of time. "It's terribly easy to fritter time away out here and difficult to keep, occupied outside working hours—profitably occupied, that is."

"I don't mean," says Laurence, "we don't like Hollywood. We like the theatre better."

Nancy Dill, of the sophomore class, and Esther Howe, of the junior class, were the only students to receive 6 A's and 1 B. Special credit is also given to Isabel Shank, who received 5 A's and 1 B.

Mrs. Annie Hoffman, who will leave Arendtsville within a few days to make her home at Bedford, was honored by the members of the Sunday school class to which she belongs when they tended her a farewell surprise party Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trostel in Arendtsville. The husbands of the class members also attended the party. Those present were the class teacher A. D. Sheely and Mrs. Sheely, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Skinner, Mrs. W. E. Wolff, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Elaine Bushey, Mrs. Luther Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ormer, Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Trostel, Mrs. H. N. Trostel, Miss Margaret Eldon Paul Ormer and Richard Trostel.

Mrs. Elmer Hoke and family have moved from the Wallace V. Peters property on East York street, Biglerville, to the Longsight property on the same street. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Arnold will move from Gettysburg into the house vacated by the Hokes within the next few days. C. H. Musselman purchased the Peters property some time ago.

The members of the Journalist Club of the Biglerville high school visited The Gettysburg Times offices today in order to observe the operations of a modern printing plant. Included in the party were the class faculty advisor George Forney; Marian Garrettson, Norma Crum, Nancy Dill, Edith Funt, Jane Rice, Dorothy Walton, Glenn Fred Leo Baker, Richard Walton, Arthur Rice and Paul Tysor.

George W. Smith, of Biglerville, made a trip to Harpers Ferry Wednesday.

Clifford Bucher, of Cumberland, Maryland, spent the week-end in Biglerville with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Bucher.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wishard are moving this week from the Wilmer Roth property in Biglerville to their farm west of town.

Miss Margaret Trostel has returned to Harrisburg after a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trostel, of Arendtsville.

CASHTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leisinger returned Friday from a ten weeks' motor trip to Pittsburgh, Girard and Cleveland, Ohio, spending six weeks at Cleveland with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leisinger. The trip was made without mishap until near Bedford on the homeward way where a tire blew out with such force that their car ran down a five-foot embankment into a double wire fence. Neither Mr. or Mrs. Leisinger was hurt but the fenders and wheels of the car were damaged.

Mrs. James Andrew and Dorothy Andrew visited Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Biggs and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Biesecker, Orrtanna, Friday.

Little Mildred Biesecker, who is suffering with an abscessed arm, is somewhat better.

Mary Rife, Lancaster, and Sara Rife, who is attending the University of Kentucky, at Lexington, spent their Easter vacation with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Rife.

Paul Bittinger, Mrs. Helen Hartman and sons, Jay and Dickie, Harrisburg, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bittinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mark, Ruth and David Mark, Hagerstown, and Anna McGlaughlin, Gettysburg, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Annie Schultz.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bittinger and daughter, Mary, motored to Harrisburg, Friday.

Mrs. George Gochouner spent last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gochouner, near Arendtsville.

Miss Mary Myers, Fayetteville, visited her aunt, Mrs. Daniel Kuhn, Friday.

Mrs. James Ball spent several days recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Robert, who is ill with grippe.

The Rev. G. Howard Koons, of Fairfield, was entertained Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Andrew.

MUMMASBURG

Mummasburg—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Altomero, of Chambersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Gilden, of Gettysburg, were guests of Harry Harman at the home of Roy Leatherman.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harman were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hoke and daughter, Janet. Miss Marion Lavelper, Mrs. Stella Topper and son, Greg, all of Hanover; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kaylor and children, Theresa, Junior, Louise and Delores, of Midway.

Mary Fritz, who was confined to her bed by illness, is able to be up again.

Harry Harman, who was confined to his bed by illness, is slowly improving.

Mrs. Maggie Allison and Norman Singley and family have moved from here to the house of Mrs. H. E. Berkey in Gettysburg.

Lloyd Hess and family have moved from Gettysburg to the house vacated by Mrs. Allison and the Singleys.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Staley and children, Olive, Colleen, Marcella and Junior, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Staley, at Mt. Alto.

John Allison and family have moved to the Deardorff farm near Floy's church. Howard Baker and family have moved to the farm vacated by the Allison.

Honor Memory Of Reading President

Every wheel on the Reading company system was still for one minute at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon as a tribute to the memory of Agnew T. Dice, president of that railroad, who died suddenly on a street car in Philadelphia last Friday evening.

All trains were stopped and all work was suspended at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, the hour for the funeral.

The services were held from the home of a daughter in Reading where interment also was made.

Ten Get Permits For Bathing Places

Official permits for the operation of bathing places during the current year have been issued by Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, to ten applicants, out of the more than 200 who have asked for inspection.

The very limited field force of enforcers who do the inspection work previous to the permit being issued constantly on the move, under the supervision of George W. Moore, engineer in charge. Applications are now being received in increased numbers and inspections are being made as fast as possible.

MAJOR LEAGUE BERTH WEEK-END AVOCATION

Chicago (AP).—Billy Sullivan, son of the old-time Chicago White Sox catcher, will be big league baseball's first "week-end" player this spring.

His studies at Notre Dame, where he is taking a post-graduate course in law, will keep him out of mid-week action until mid-June.

He will commute to play for the Sox on Saturday and Sunday games, until school's out.

Washington Highlights

By Herbert Plummer
Washington—When the Hon. Jack Garner finally got around to putting on his full dress suit and silk topper and attended a White House function in his honor, some of the newspaper boys went to his downtown hotel apartment to persuade him to pose for a picture.

"Speaker Jack" didn't take to the suggestion with much enthusiasm at first. But finally he consented and with Mrs. Garner lined up for the picture.

Just before the flash, he thought he noticed a semblance of a smile on the face of a photographer who, perhaps, has "shot" the Garner countenance more often than any other man in Washington. A sort of friendship has grown up between the two.

"Hey, ———," shouted Garner gaily at the photographer, "you wipe that dad-gum grin off your face, else I'll not wear these things tonight!"

That little incident was recalled when the "Hon. Jack" came out the other day with his bristling denunciation of republicans for what he termed trying to take credit for legislation thus far inaugurated in congress to relieve the economic ills of the country.

The gentleman from Texas has tumbled to the fact that somebody may be grinning at him and his democratism and that's one thing he will not tolerate—whether the grin comes from a news photographer or worse (in his mind) a group of republicans.

In the old days when Garner was the fighting leader of the democrats on the floor of the house, he was tremendously fond of indulging in a practice which he called "hellgebiting."

"Hellgebiting" is defined in the Garner dictionary as, "a rough and tumble process of rawhiding republicans until they are forced to the point of yelling 'hell-she-bites!'"

Since assuming the dignity of speaker, Garner has had very little opportunity to "hellgebite," of necessity, he is now confined to formal statements or more or less dignified utterances in his conferences with newspapermen.

But that doesn't mean that he has forgotten how or that his thrusts now are any less sharp. Anyone who read his statement the other day, in which he belabored republican orators whom he said have undertaken to "Glorify" the president because of the vital legislation that has had bipartisan support in congress, can readily see that.

Watch out for these things called "hellgebiters" in the future.

Grain Inspector, 89, Drives Car To Work

Minneapolis (AP).—At 89 Col. R. A. Wilkinson drives his own automobile 20 miles to work every day, plays chess every noon to relax from duties as grain inspector, and drives home again at eventide.

He is a Civil war veteran who 25 years ago was told he had "a year or less" to live. At that time he terminated his association with James J. Hill, the "Empire builder," to whom he had been legal adviser for nearly a quarter century, and, regaining his health in farming, re-entered politics.

Wilkinson says he has no thought of retiring.

DARING

They're not paying fancy money for the ordinary labor.
They are cutting down the wages for the work that all can do.
Now the rate is down for old tasks.
But they're paying well for bold tasks.
And a youth will be rewarded for what's difficult and new.

There seems little in the future for the common order taker.
And but little for the fellow who says: "Tell me what to do."
But the youngster with ambition Who'll defy old-time tradition,
Will find fame and fortune waiting when he works his problem through.

Oh, the ruts of life are crowded with a squirming mass of workers,
But there's room afar, plenty for the daring, pioneers.
And the brave and the undaunted Who will find the new things wanted,
Will be welcomed by the Nation and be honored down the years.

SCOUTS SEEK SPRING SIGNS IN NATURE HUNT

Boy Scouts of Troop 79, Methodist church, combed Adams county Monday in search of signs of spring. They emerged after two hours of searching with forty-two distinct tokens establishing the fact that warm weather cannot be so far away.

The scouts, who make their headquarters at the Methodist church, started out from that place under the leadership of their scoutmaster. They looked underneath rocks, peered into muddy pools, examined rotten logs and raked aside dry leaves. Every young scout was measured carefully to determine the state of its growth and development.

Signs of spring unearthed during the investigation included red ants, field garlic, red squirrels, bark lice, blue birds, wild strawberry leaves, salamanders, marginal shield ferns, snails, and a Jack-in-the-pulpit. Animal life on the whole was kept hidden, while plant life showed marked progress.

Scout Jack Cessna, a rather diminutive searcher, did not confine his investigation to wild life. His biggest discovery was a spring chicken bone which he claimed to be the surest discovery of the day, but as this was located outside of the restaurant, the find was ruled out.

Scout Ernie Hamm, much to the horror of the scoutmaster, turned up with many well-developed stalks of the cultivated blue flag. He was advised to discard it and stay as far away from the spot where he picked it up as possible.

Worthington attempted to appear with a straw hat, but was caught in the act and lost a valuable token.

The most exhaustive search of the day was performed in the quest for salamanders. The salamander makes its home under rocks in the vicinity of water, it was learned, and few rocks along Rock creek were left unturned. One dank and lock-imposed pool was the spot on which Scout Jimmie Tate concentrated his investigations. Kneeling on hands and knees Scout Tate fished out one form of animal life after another.

"Quite a specimen," he murmured thoughtfully after each haul. None of the searchers rivalled Scout Tate in singleness of purpose.

At the close of the afternoon the scouts assembled at their headquarters and reported. Assistant Scoutmaster Stauffer, sitting in judgment on the discoveries, ruled favorably or adversely on the reports.

"Rabbits don't count," he intoned as the lists were read off. "Wild strawberry leaves, all right; honeysuckle, not a sign of spring."

When Scout Earl Mickley, known for his over-enthusiastic search, made his report, Mr. Stauffer made a cross-examination.

"What does a dogwood blossom look like?" he inquired.
"Well," said Scout Mickley confidently, "it grows on the end of a red stem, close to the ground."

"Cross out dogwood blossoms," said the scoutmaster. "Now, Mickley, you say you saw an Isabella tiger moth. Was it active?"

"No," replied Scout Mickley, "it just moved along."

"That's what I mean by active," said the scoutmaster. "Did it show animation?"

"Allegation, that's the word I wanted," exclaimed Mickley. "Sure it was very animated."

Read The Bible With Us Daily

In thee, O Lord, do I put my trust: let me never be put to confusion.

Deliver me in thy righteousness, and cause me to escape; incline thine ear unto me, and save me.

Be thou my strong habitation, wherunto I may continually resort: thou hast given commandment to save me; for thou art my rock and my fortress.

Deliver me, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked, out of the hand of the unrighteous and cruel man.

For thou art my hope, O Lord God: thou art my trust from my youth.

By thee have I been hidden up from the womb: thou art he that took me out of my mother's bowels: my praise shall be continually of thee.

I am as a wonder unto many; but thou art my strong refuge. Let my mouth be filled with thy praise and with thy honour all the day.

Cast me not off in the time of old age: forsake me not when my strength faileth.

For mine enemies speak against me; and they that lay wait for my soul take counsel together.

Saying, God hath forsaken him: persecute and take him; for there is none to deliver him.

O God, be not far from me: O my God, make haste for my help.

Let them be confounded and consumed that are adversaries to my soul: let them be covered with reproach and dishonour that seek my hurt.

But I will hope continually, and will yet praise thee more and more.

My mouth shall show forth thy righteousness and thy salvation all the day; for I know not the numbers thereof.

I will go in the strength of the Lord God: I will make mention of thy righteousness, even of thine only.—Psalm 71:1-16.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON WRITING

I GET so many letters from people wanting to become writers. It is difficult to understand why anyone should want to be a writer—unless he simply can't help being one!

But to write interestingly and intelligently is a great art, and one to be greatly desired. It is not necessary, however, to be a writer by profession, or to write for money in order to write profitably. People who have the urge to write, and desire to, should make it a happy art, the same as they take to music or painting—for the pure pleasure of the thing.

It is a good thing to put your thoughts to paper. It improves your thinking and your power of expression. It is splendid to think, to keep a diary—and therein write down your thoughts and your ideas, as they unfold from time to time. That's what Peypys did—and he has left an immortal piece of writing that is being enjoyed today with increasing interest. I have no idea that he ever thought that, a hundred years from the time he wrote, people would still want to read what he had to say. But he said things humanly and interestingly—and that's what the world wants in its reading.

Write about the things that you know most about, not what you think other people will like best. They will like what you write, if you write honestly and as you feel.

Usually what an author thinks least of himself becomes his greatest work, for in such instances he places his talents less on parade and is more himself.

Stevenson took a notebook with him everywhere he went and jotted down everything that struck his fancy and which appealed to him as interesting. He sketched his words. Shakespeare probably did the same thing, for he seems never to have missed the heart of people's feelings. Hudson is another writer who had a wonderful talent for writing so simply and beautifully that you become fascinated with his simple and knowing style.

Read the people who move you most. Then try and write about the things that move you most. You will then be well on the road to become a writer—even though that writing is merely done for the pure pleasure of the act.

was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Frock. Slot machines were ordered to be destroyed and the defendant pay the costs.

Transfer of the tavern license of John Wagner, of Bonneville, to Charles Strasbaugh, was approved.

Express Office Changes Hands.—Monday morning the Adams Express company went out of business in Gettysburg, being succeeded by the American express company.

J. O. G. Weaver, for a number of years the local agent of the Adams, will continue as local agent for the American.

The American company is the largest of its kind in the world. The Wells Fargo express ranks second and the Adams express company third.

The change in the companies along the lines of the Western Maryland follows the general policy of the New York Central, which controls the Western Maryland and carries American express.

Real Estate Sale.—Frank Eberhart has purchased of Mrs. William Allison her property on Railroad street at private terms. Mr. Eberhart has since sold the property to Louis Mizell.

Slot Machines Must Go.—The Young Men's Brotherhood of St. James' Lutheran church will lay information against all persons operating slot machines for profit. The first step was taken last week by Charles S. Bream, president of the organization, who in company with C. H. Wilson visited the shoe shining parlor on Chambersburg street, operated by George Pettis and secured two slot machines which were removed to the office of District Attorney Wible.

Celebrated Their Wedding Anniversary.—Mr. and Mrs. George C. Gottwald, Hanover street, celebrated the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of their marriage on Friday, March 29.

Mounted Cannon.—The Gilbert foundry on Saturday week shipped to the Daughters of the American Revolution of New York city two British cannon, captured at Yorktown in 1781. The cannon were quaint and interesting. Carriages were made for them at the local foundry and they were shipped complete.

Personal.—William R. Andrews, the noted Scotch singer, spent Tuesday on the battlefield.

H. S. Brinkerhoff, of Washington, D. C., spent several days last week at his home on Baltimore street.

Walter Berger, operator at the local Western Maryland station, has gone to Hagerstown to accept a similar position. Harry Breighner, second trick man takes Mr. Berger's place, and E. M. Loose, of Hanover, will do the second trick.

Collin E. Spangler, of Harrisburg, was a Gettysburg visitor last week. Misses Sara and Annie Skelly have returned to their home on Chambersburg street, after spending the winter in Dayton, Ohio.

Max Davis, of Pittsburgh, spent several days with friends in town.

Mrs. Edgar A. Crouse spent several days with friends in Hanover last week.

Mrs. Edna Zane and daughter, Miss Dorothy, are spending a few days with friends in York.

Mrs. Sterling Valentine has gone to Oxford, N. J. to spend Easter with her husband.

Mrs. Mantz Doll, of Frederick, is spending some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson.

Millard Tawney, of Harrisburg, visited his parents here over Sunday.

Miss Augusta Craighhead, of Carlisle, visited Miss Mary Swope over Sunday.

Fairfield.—Misses Edna and Mary Sites are attending the State Normal school at Millersville. Harry McLaughlin and Joseph Cool left on Monday for the C. V. S. N. S. at Shippensburg.

HORNSBY LIKES CHICAGO ROLE OF "OUTSIDER"

Cubs' Pilot Expects To Give Baseball Fans Big Surprise.

By Rogers Hornsby
(Manager, Chicago Cubs)
Los Angeles (AP).—Because of the many changes it is necessary for us to make, many of the fans and baseball experts are not giving the Chicago Cubs much of a tumble in the race for the National league pennant.

I would rather have that than have them pick us to win, as I expect to give them all a big surprise.

We were said to have been weak on the infield last season, but I am certain we are fortified there now with the new players we have acquired. Third base has been our hoo-doo for several years, but I am sure we have that position filled now that we have Stanley Hack to play there.

Since coming into spring camp, Hack has demonstrated to me that he is one of the best young ball-players I have seen in years, not alone in fielding, but also in hitting. He probably will not knock the fences down with long drives, but he will get a lot of timely hits as he seems to know how to place them. I am satisfied he will make the Cubs a genuine third baseman.

Likes Keystone Pair
There is no doubt that we have one of the best second base combinations in the league in Woody proved this at the close of last English and Bill Herman. They year's campaign. Charley Grimm figures to start at first base unless Harry Taylor can run him off the job, but if anything happens to Grimm we will have a capable man in Taylor to take his place.

At this early date it appears to me that the Cubs will have the youngest and fastest infield in the National league.

Besides the infield improvements, I think we will have a stranger pitching staff than in 1931. Pat Malone, for one, will be more effective after the experience he had last season. He is working hard to get in shape and I look for him to have his biggest year in baseball.

The addition of Burleigh Grimes also has added a lot to the effectiveness of our pitching. We also have several new pitchers who are certain to make our hurling harder to beat than it was in last season's race.

Punch A Question
Our biggest problem seems to be the punch on our club, and I am confident we will have it with Hazen Cuyler, Vincent Barton, Riggs Stephenson, Dan Taylor, and possibly Johnny Moore to guard the garden spots.

There is a lot of power in this group. I am not sure, aside from Cuyler, who will make up the outfield trio, but the fans can rest assured the players displaying the greatest consistency in hitting and power will land the berths.

With this group of men to choose from, I am not particularly worried about our driving power as I think with the rest of the boys hitting steadily we will have a combination of power and speed to score a lot of runs, and this is what wins baseball games.

Tabulated Chart Reveals Average Daily Cost Per Inmate Is $1.10.

The average daily cost per inmate of the eight-eight almshouses in Pennsylvania under supervision of the bureau of assistance of the state department of welfare is $1.10. This announcement was made by bureau heads following careful compilation of expense figures reported by each of the almshouses.

Study of the figures brings out several interesting features. Direct maintenance of each inmate presents a daily expense of $39. Operative expenses show a per capita daily cost of $36. Administration costs are shown as $17 per day per inmate.

the employment hazards for boys in coal mines," said Miss Beatrice McConnell, director of the bureau. This information has now been collected and will be published in a later edition of the department's monthly bulletin, Labor and Industry.

Of the 5300 boys in the mining industry, 739 were reported to have suffered accidents. Practically all of the injured boys were 16 and 17 years of age, only six being under 16 years. Five of the boys were killed and eleven were permanently disabled.

In bituminous mining boys were injured more often than boys. Two-thirds of all the accidents to boys under 18 occurred in the bituminous field. Boys were hurt more frequently loading coal. In the anthracite industry boys were injured less often than men. Most of these accidents occurred in handling cars and in other work connected with hauling the coal to the surface.

Work inside the mines is much more hazardous than outside work. Only a little more than half of the boys work inside the mines, yet nearly three-quarters of the accidents happened underground.

75% OF MAN'S ILLS HAVE ORIGIN IN STOMACH, SAY EXPERTS! OFTEN AFFECTS KIDNEYS, LIVER, BLOOD, AND NERVES

TELLS HOW TO FIGHT DISEASE WITH NATEX, COLLEGE PROFESSOR'S PRESCRIPTION MADE FROM EXTRACTS OF SIMPLE ROOTS, BARKS, HERBS AND LEAVES

Many Citizens Right Here In This Section Tell How New Discovery Has Helped Them.

A good digestion and a strong, healthy stomach are absolutely indispensable to health and comfort is the unanimous opinion of every physician. The slightest derangement of the stomach interferes more or less with all the succeeding processes of digestion and seriously impairs nutrition. Stomach trouble in its various forms produces a never ending trend of physical disorders, it frequently causes diseases of the liver, kidneys, blood and bowels; brings on severe headaches, rheumatism, nervous ailments and heart afflictions. It makes the patient irritable and melancholy; spoils the appetite and undermines the strongest constitution.

In diseases of the stomach, some of the following symptoms are usually present. Bad breath, sick headaches, giddiness, disturbed sleep, bitter taste in the mouth, loss of hope, courage and energy; uneasiness, fullness and gas in the stomach and constipation.

The proper medicine for such condition is not harsh mineral drugs and chemicals. Not only science but sound common sense points, instead to those good old-fashioned remedies of the vegetable kingdom, herbs, barks, roots and leaves such as grandmother herself used to brew and use in the days when doctors were few and hard to reach and before new fangled drugs and disease became the fashion.

College Professor's Prescription

Right in this section there is going on a wonderful sale of an old-fashioned medicine—just pure, plain liquid extracts, carefully and skillfully compounded by a college professor from the roots, herbs, barks and leaves of the woods and fields. A highly efficient stomach medicine that contains also good things for the nerves, blood, kidneys and bowels.

Thousands lack sufficient vital force and don't know why. They think they need a tonic, a vacation or a change of scenery, but they don't. Ten to one the underlying source of all the trouble lies in the stomach or vital organs affected by it; and a six day test of Natex ought to prove it in almost any case.

Stomach trouble, backaches, fits of depression and headaches compel one to think of work with half his brain, while the other half throbs as if it could go to pieces. There are no more striking examples of the great practical value of Natex, the wonderful herbal medicine, than are heard from the lips of the men and women who have been made well. Its ability to relieve these ills is overwhelmingly proven by innumerable testimonials.

Hundreds Report Prompt Relief
Among the hundreds in this section who have used Natex with such good results is one from a well-known lady who says, "I suffered for years with a bad case of stomach trouble and nothing helped me until I started on Natex and without a doubt it has reached my crave, for I now eat most anything I crave and it never hurts me in the least. I am never bothered with gas or pains and the constipation is gone entirely. My nerves are much stronger. I get a good full night's sleep now, and wake up refreshed and full of vigor. I haven't had a headache since the second day I started on Natex. I certainly do recommend Natex, for it has done me a world of good."

But this is just one instance. A leading dentist says, "I feel better than in years." The captain of a large ocean-going steamship declares "I never thought a medicine could help me as much as Natex did." "Every meal is a pleasure since Natex ended my indigestion," says a traveling evangelist. "I wouldn't be without it," writes a prominent plumber. Hundreds of other well-known men and women also testify. It is the one medicine that seems to help everyone.

If you are half-sick, nervous or rundown, if you can't sleep as you should; if your joints and muscles are stiff and sore; if you can't eat without fear of stomach distress; if you have fallen off in weight, strength and energy and want prompt relief, try Natex. Go to Bender's Cut Rate Store (formerly Murphy's), 16 Baltimore St. They will gladly explain the merits of Natex and tell how it will help you. Valuable health booklet given free.

A $3,700,000 Pay Day for Associated Investors

On April 1 interest and dividend checks will be mailed to thousands of homes served by the Associated Gas & Electric System. How welcome these checks will be. Investors will apply them on bills, mortgages, or buy much-needed things. Many will reinvest their checks.

Extra Pay Days for YOU

Customers are now offered the opportunity to invest in Associated Gas and Electric Corporation (a subsidiary of Associated Gas and Electric Company) 8% Eight Year Gold Bonds (participating conditionally to 10%). The liberal initial interest rate of 8 1/2% will produce substantial extra paychecks every March 15 and September 15, even on a small investment.

SIGNIFICANT FACTS

1. Interest Protected—Consolidated net earnings excluding all net non-operating income from non-utility subsidiaries, etc., and after depreciation, are over five times the annual requirements for interest at 8% on $10,000,000 principal amount of this issue.
2. Units of $10—The bonds are issued in registered form in units of $10 and multiples and in bearer (coupon) form in $100, $500, and $1,000 pieces.
3. Legal for New York life insurance companies—The laws of this state are considered to be among the most conservative regarding investments legal for such institutions.

These bonds are direct obligations of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation and are being offered instead of previously announced Guaranteed 8% Eight Year Gold Bonds of its parent, Associated Gas and Electric Company.

Investment may be made by making a first payment of $3 per $10 bond. The balance may be paid in two equal installments. Interest on partial payments 7%.

Inquire of any employee, or phone or write the nearest Associated System office. Circular, to which reference is hereby made, will be furnished on request.

the employment hazards for boys in coal mines," said Miss Beatrice McConnell, director of the bureau. This information has now been collected and will be published in a later edition of the department's monthly bulletin, Labor and Industry.

Of the 5300 boys in the mining industry, 739 were reported to have suffered accidents. Practically all of the injured boys were 16 and 17 years of age, only six being under 16 years. Five of the boys were killed and eleven were permanently disabled.

In bituminous mining boys were injured more often than boys. Two-thirds of all the accidents to boys under 18 occurred in the bituminous field. Boys were hurt more frequently loading coal. In the anthracite industry boys were injured less often than men. Most of these accidents occurred in handling cars and in other work connected with hauling the coal to the surface.

Work inside the mines is much more hazardous than outside work. Only a little more than half of the boys work inside the mines, yet nearly three-quarters of the accidents happened underground.

75% OF MAN'S ILLS HAVE ORIGIN IN STOMACH, SAY EXPERTS! OFTEN AFFECTS KIDNEYS, LIVER, BLOOD, AND NERVES

TELLS HOW TO FIGHT DISEASE WITH NATEX, COLLEGE PROFESSOR'S PRESCRIPTION MADE FROM EXTRACTS OF SIMPLE ROOTS, BARKS, HERBS AND LEAVES

Many Citizens Right Here In This Section Tell How New Discovery Has Helped Them.

A good digestion and a strong, healthy stomach are absolutely indispensable to health and comfort is the unanimous opinion of every physician. The slightest derangement of the stomach interferes more or less with all the succeeding processes of digestion and seriously impairs nutrition. Stomach trouble in its various forms produces a never ending trend of physical disorders, it frequently causes diseases of the liver, kidneys, blood and bowels; brings on severe headaches, rheumatism, nervous ailments and heart affections. It makes the patient irritable and melancholy; spoils the appetite and undermines the strongest constitution.

In diseases of the stomach, some of the following symptoms are usually present. Bad breath, sick headaches, giddiness, disturbed sleep, bitter taste in the mouth, loss of hope, courage and energy; uneasiness, fullness and gas in the stomach and constipation.

The proper medicine for such condition is not harsh mineral drugs and chemicals. Not only science, but sound common sense points, instead to those good old-fashioned remedies of the vegetable kingdom, herbs, barks, roots and leaves such as grandmother herself used to brew and use in the days when doctors were few and hard to reach and before new fangled drugs and disease became the fashion.

College Professor's Prescription

Right in this section there is going on a wonderful sale of an old-fashioned medicine—just pure, plain liquid extracts, carefully and skillfully compounded by a college professor from the roots, herbs, barks and leaves of the woods and fields. A highly efficient stomach medicine that contains also good things for the nerves, blood, kidneys and bowels.

Thousands lack sufficient vital force and don't know why. They think they need a tonic, a vacation or a change of scenery, but they don't. Ten to one the underlying source of all the trouble lies in the stomach or vital organs affected by it and a six day test of Nutex ought to prove it in almost any case.

Stomach trouble, backaches, fits of depression and headaches compel one to think of work with half his brain, while the other half throbs as if it could go to pieces. There are no more striking examples of the great practical value of Nutex, the wonderful herbal medicine, than are heard from the lips of the men and women who have been made well. Its ability to relieve these ills is overwhelmingly proven by innumerable testimonials.

Hundreds Report Prompt Relief

Among the hundreds in this section who have used Nutex with such good results is one from a well-known lady who says, "I suffered for years with a bad case of stomach trouble and nothing helped me until I started on Nutex and without a doubt it has reached my case, for I now eat most anything I crave and it never hurts me in the least. I am never bothered with gas or pains or the constipation is gone entirely. My nerves are much stronger. I get a good full night's sleep now, and wake up refreshed and full of vigor. I haven't had a headache since the second day I started on Nutex. I certainly do recommend Nutex, for it has done me a world of good."

But this is just one instance. A leading dentist says, "I feel better than in years." The captain of a large ocean-going steamship declares, "I never thought a medicine could help me as much as Nutex did." "Every meal is a pleasure since Nutex ended my indigestion," says a traveling evangelist. "I wouldn't be without it," writes a prominent plumber. Hundreds of other well-known men and women also testify. It is the one medicine that seems to help everyone.

If you are half-sick, nervous or rundown, if you can't sleep as you should; if your joints and muscles are stiff and sore; if you can't eat without fear of stomach distress, if you have fallen off in weight, strength and energy and want prompt relief, try Nutex. Go to Bender's Cut Rate Store (formerly Murphy's), 16 Baltimore St. They will gladly explain the merits of Nutex and tell how it will help you. Valuable health booklet given free.

A $3,700,000 Pay Day for Associated Investors

On April 1 interest and dividend checks will be mailed to thousands of homes served by the Associated Gas & Electric System. How welcome these checks will be. Investors will apply them on bills, mortgages, or buy much-needed things. Many will reinvest their checks.

Extra Pay Days for YOU

Customers are now offered the opportunity to invest in Associated Gas and Electric Corporation (a subsidiary of Associated Gas and Electric Company) 8% Eight Year Gold Bonds (participating conditionally to 10%). The liberal initial interest rate of 8 1/2% will produce substantial extra paychecks every March 15 and September 15, even on a small investment.

SIGNIFICANT FACTS

1. Interest Protected—Consolidated net earnings excluding all net non-operating income from non-utility subsidiaries, etc., and after depreciation, are over five times the annual requirements for interest at 8% on $40,000,000 principal amount of this issue.

2. Units of $10—The bonds are issued in registered form in units of $10 and multiples and in bearer (coupon) form in $100, $500, and $1,000 pieces.

3. Legal for New York life insurance companies—The laws of this state are considered to be among the most conservative regarding investments legal for such institutions.

These bonds are direct obligations of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation and are being offered instead of previously announced Guaranteed 8% Eight Year Gold Bonds of its parent, Associated Gas and Electric Company.

Investment may be made by making a first payment of $3 per $10 bond. The balance may be paid in two equal installments. Interest on partial payments 7%.

Inquire of any employee, or phone or write the nearest Associated System office. Circular, to which reference is hereby made, will be furnished on request.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription—HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. People's Drug Store says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON WRITING

I GET so many letters from people wanting to become writers. It is difficult to understand why anyone should want to be a writer—unless he simply can't help being one!

But to write interestingly and intelligently is a great art, and one to be greatly desired. It is not necessary, however, to be a writer by profession, or to write for money in order to write profitably. People who have the urge to write, and desire to, should make it a happy art, the same as they take to music or painting—for the pure pleasure of the thing.

It is a good thing to put your thoughts to paper. It improves your thinking and your power of expression. It is splendid to think, to keep a diary—and therein write down your thoughts and your ideas, as they unfold from time to time. That's what Pepsys did—and he has left an immortal piece of writing that is being enjoyed today with increasing interest. I have no idea that he ever thought that, a hundred years from the time he wrote, people would still want to read what he had to say. But he said things humanly and interestingly—and that's what the world wants in its reading.

Write about the things that you know most about, not what you think other people will like best. They will like what you write, if you write honestly and as you feel.

Usually what an author thinks least of himself becomes his greatest work, for in such instances he places his talents less on parade and is more himself.

Stevenson took a notebook with him everywhere he went and jotted down everything that struck his fancy and which appealed to him as interesting. He sketched his words. Shakespeare probably did the same thing, for he seems never to have missed the heart of people's feelings. Hudson is another writer who had a wonderful talent for writing so simply and beautifully that you become fascinated with his simple and knowing style.

Read the people who move you most. Then try and write about the things that move you most. You will then be well on the road to become a writer—even though that writing is merely done for the pure pleasure of the act.

Express Office Changes Hands.—Monday morning the Adams Ex-press company went out of business in Gettysburg, being succeeded by the American express company.

J. O. G. Weaver, for a number of years the local agent of the Adams, will continue as local agent for the American.

The American company is the largest of its kind in the world. The Wells Fargo express ranks second and the Adams express company third.

The change in the companies along the lines of the Western Maryland follows the general policy of the New York Central, which controls the Western Maryland and carries American express.

Real Estate Sale.—Frank Eberhart has purchased of Mrs. William Allison her property on Railroad street at private terms. Mr. Eberhart has since sold the property to Louis Mizell.

Slot Machines Must Go.—The Young Men's Brotherhood of St. James Lutheran church will lay information against all persons operating slot machines for profit. The first step was taken last week by Charles S. Bream, president of the organization, who in company with C. H. Wilson visited the shoe shining parlor on Chambersburg street, operated by George Pettis and secured two slot machines which were removed to the office of District Attorney White.

Mounted Cannon.—The Gilbert foundry on Saturday week shipped to the Daughters of the American Revolution of New York city two British cannon, captured at Yorktown in 1781. The cannon were quaint and interesting. Carriages were made for them at the local foundry and they were shipped complete.

Personal.—William R. Andrews, the noted Scotch singer, spent Tuesday on the battlefield.

H. S. Brinkerhoff, of Washington, D. C. spent several days last week at his home on Baltimore street.

Walter Berger, operator at the local Western Maryland station, has gone to Hagerstown to accept a similar position. Harry Brighner, second trick man takes Mr. Berger's place, and E. M. Loose, of Hanover, will do the second trick.

Collin E. Spangler, of Harrisburg, was a Gettysburg visitor last week.

Misses Sara and Annie Skelly have returned to their home on Chambersburg street, after spending the winter in Dayton, Ohio.

Max Davis, of Pittsburgh, spent several days with friends in town.

Mrs. Edgar A. Crouse spent several days with friends in Hanover last week.

Mrs. Edna Zane and daughter, Miss Dorothy, are spending a few days with friends in York.

Mrs. Sterling Valentine has gone to Oxford N. J., to spend Easter with her husband.

Mrs. Mantz Doll, of Frederick, is spending some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson.

De Valera Faces Stumbling Block In Attempt To Unite 6 Counties With Free State

(By The Associated Press)

Eamon de Valera, New Irish president, is tackling a century-old problem in that portion of his program which calls for union of the six northern counties with the Irish Free State.

It dates from the days when Kings of Connaught, Munster and other divisions tried to unite the Green Isle by grabbing each other's possessions. It runs through the medieval politics which gave to Henry VIII and his successors the title of "King of Ireland" and takes in the Constitution of 1792 which granted to Irishmen the right to be bound only by their own laws and courts. Yet eight years later the country rather gladly reunited with England, and one of the chief factors in that situation was the "Ulster Presbyterians" who objected more strenuously to being governed by Irishmen than they did by Englishmen.

Their attitude, now that they have had ten years of autonomous government with a parliament of their own at Belfast, and Viscount Craigavon as prime minister, has shown little change from what they thought about the subject 132 years ago.

In fact it was only twenty years ago that Sir Edward Carson and his "Ulster Volunteers" gave concrete evidence that the spirit of 1800 was still in the northern counties.

At that time the British house of commons had just passed Lord Asquith's home rule bill. True, the house of lords rejected it, but the power of the latter had been clipped, and two more favorable votes in commons at succeeding sessions would put the bill on the statute books.

The Carson following armed itself and announced it would set up a separate government in Belfast if the bill became law. It went through the commons again in May, 1914; the lords excluded Northern Ireland from its provisions. Conferences were in full swing when an Austrian arch-duke was murdered at Sarajevo in Serbia and all Europe sprang to arms.

Nevertheless the bill passed commons the third time in September, 1914, and became law for all Ireland, but was amended so that it would not come into effect until after the great war. Actually it was never put in operation.

The "Ulster Volunteers" aroused the South of Ireland, where "Irish Volunteers" and Dublin's "Citizen Army" were organized. England began to talk about applying its conscription laws to Ireland, and Sinn Fein with its "for-us-alone" dogma gained much ground.

The bloody Easter rebellion of 1916 lasted a week to be succeeded by organization of the first Dail. But his national assembly moved too slowly for Daniel Breen, and he decided that the best way to get the English out was to kill off the constabulary.

Hence, from January, 1919, until May, 1921, there was terror. It took 8500 armed men from England, called back to the color of their uniforms "Black and Tans," to overcome the terrorists with terror in the south while shocking religious murders became the rule in Belfast and the North.

Finally British public opinion forced the Lloyd George part-war cabinet to treat with the Dail, then headed by de Valera. Cat of this grew the Anglo-Irish treaty of December, 1921.

De Valera didn't like it because it established the Irish Free State as a dominion over the British Empire instead of an independent public, but the Dail accepted it.

The pact gave Ulster the right to vote itself out of the new dominion, which it promptly proceeded to do. Another point which irked de Valera.

Since then Ireland has had two parliaments and the six northern counties have continued to send their representatives to London, to pay taxes to imperial tax collectors and to see 25 per cent of the levies retained for empire purposes.

They acknowledge George V. as their king and point with some pride and sense of security to the fact that his realm is described as "the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland."

In sad and loving remembrance of my dear aunt, J. Anna Morrell, who departed this life eight years ago today, April 1st, 1924.How quickly death among us comes.
And bitter grief imparts.
It takes the loved ones from our home
But never from our hearts.Sadly missed by her only nephew,

De Valera Faces Stumbling Block In Attempt To Unite 6 Counties With Free State

(By The Associated Press) Eamon de Valera, New Irish president, is tackling a century-old problem in that portion of his program which calls for union of the six northern counties with the Irish Free State.

It dates from the days when Kings of Connaught, Munster and other divisions tried to unite the Green Isle by grabbing each other's possessions. It runs through the medieval politics which gave to Henry VIII and his successors the title of "King of Ireland" and takes in the Constitution of 1792 which granted to Irishmen the right to be bound only by their own laws and courts.

Yet eight years later the country rather gladly reunited with England, and one of the chief factors in that situation was the "Ulster Presbyterians" who objected more strenuously to being governed by Irishmen than they did by Englishmen.

Their attitude, now that they have had ten years of autonomous government with a parliament of their own at Belfast, and Viscount Craigavon as prime minister, has shown little change from what they thought about the subject 132 years ago.

In fact it was only twenty years ago that Sir Edward Carson and his "Ulster Volunteers" gave concrete evidence that the spirit of 1890 was still in the northern counties.

At that time the British house of commons had just passed Lord Asquith's home rule bill. True, the house of lords rejected it, but the power of the latter had been clipped, and two more favorable votes in commons at succeeding sessions would put the bill on the statute books.

The Carson following armed itself and announced it would set up a separate government in Belfast if the bill became law. It went through the commons again in May, 1914; the lords excluded Northern Ireland from its provisions. Conferences were in full swing when an Austrian arch-duke was murdered at Sarajevo in Serbia and all Europe sprang to arms.

Nevertheless the bill passed commons the third time in September, 1914, and became law for all Ireland, but was amended so that it would not come into effect until after the great war. Actually it was never put in operation.

The "Ulster Volunteers" aroused the South of Ireland, where "Irish Volunteers" and Dublin's "Citizen Army" were organized. England begin to talk about applying its conscription laws to Ireland, and Sinn Fein with its "for-us-alone" dogma gained much ground.

The bloody Easter rebellion of 1916 lasted a week to be succeeded by organization of the first Dail. But his national assembly moved too slowly for Daniel Brin, and he decided that the best way to get the English out was to kill off the constabulary.

Hence, from January, 1919, until May, 1921, there was terror. It took 5500 armed men from England, called back to the color of their uniforms "Black and Tans," to overcome the terrorists with terror in the south while shocking religious murders became the rule in Belfast and the North.

Finally British public opinion forced the Lloyd George part-war cabinet to treat with the Dail, then headed by de Valera. Out of this grew the Anglo-Irish treaty of December, 1921.

De Valera didn't like it because it established the Irish Free State as a dominion over the British Empire instead of an independent republic, but the Dail accepted it.

The pact gave Dail the right to vote itself out of the new dominion which it promptly proceeded to do. Another point which irked de Valera.

Since then Ireland has had two parliaments and the six northern counties have continued to send their representatives to London, to pay taxes to imperial tax collectors and to see 25 per cent of the levies retained for empire purposes.

They acknowledge George V. as their king and point with some pride and sense of security to the fact that his realm is described as "the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland."

Two Officers Are Convicted By Jury

Scranton, March 31 (AP)—Two Lock Haven men were acquitted and two others were found guilty on charges of conspiring to intimidate a government witness against them in a liquor case by a federal jury here today.

The men convicted were Detective
 David L. Probst and Patrolman
 George Webb. Patrolmen Martin
 Peters and William Delving were acquitted.

Married members of the coaching staff of Marquette university are fathers of eight boys and one girl. Coach Bill Chandler of the basketball squad has the largest family—two boys and a girl.

Eight hundred candidates are expected out for spring football practice at Notre Dame university.

Bank Cashier
Steals $29,000

New York, March 31 (AP)—Lloyd
 Byrn, who in his 28 years with the Brooklyn Savings bank, had risen to the position of assistant cashier with a salary of $10,000 a year, admitted today, police said, that he had stolen more than $29,000 from the bank in the last two years.

Police said they had not learned what he did with the money.

Jay Hodupp of New York has been elected captain of the Columbia university basketball team for next season. He has played guard for two years, and also has earned letters in football and track.

There Is NO SUBSTITUTE For A SAVINGS ACCOUNT In This Bank

If you have an investment and want to turn that investment into cash you do not know how much you are going to realize . . . you may get more and you may get less.

But if you have a SAVINGS ACCOUNT in a good bank you always know that it is at least worth par plus accrued interest.

When you plan your April 1st investments fortify yourself with a substantial SAVINGS ACCOUNT in this bank.

You work hard for your money . . . now make your money work for you . . . safely and surely in a SAVINGS ACCOUNT in this bank.

The First National Bank was founded at its present location on Center Square in 1858 and is now in its 75th year of constructive service in this community.

The Citizens' Trust Company was founded in 1904 and has served this community in Trust, Commercial and Savings banking for 28 years.

The First National Bank and the Citizens' Trust Company are now merged under the name and corporate title of
THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF GETTYSBURG

The merger of these two good, strong banks gives this community a larger, stronger institution, making available to all the service, knowledge and experience of these two banks, merged into one, and serving all your banking needs from our bank on Center Square.
